$203,865,000 Tax Reduction Bill To Be Given Senate

ESTATE LEVY RETAINED BY COMMITTEE

Assessment on Inheritance

AUTO REPEAL SOUGHT

Democratic Minority Will Present $325,000,000
Substitute Plan, Belief

(By United Press)
WASHINGTON, April 26.—A $203,865,000 tax reduction bill was voted today by the senate finance committee. Only minor details remain to be settled before the bill is reported to the senate.

The measure will conform with the tax reduction program originally outlined by the Republican majority on the committee except that it will provide for retention of the estate tax and repeal of the automobile tax.

Difference In Heir Tax
The difference between the original Republican program, calling for $210,000,000 reduction, and the $203,865,000 approved today is represented by the inheritance tax, which the Republicans first planned to repeal.

The Democratic minority on the committee is expected to present a $325,000,000 reduction plan to the senate as a sub for the majority bill. The measure passed by the house called for a $289,000,000 cut.

The committee voted 11 to nine on strictly party lines for a 12-1-2 per cent corporation tax, compared with the present 13-1-2. The house bill calls for only 11-2 per cent and Democrats favor that figure. This is the principal difference between the Republican and Democratic programs.

12-1-2 Per Cent Insurance Tax
The committee also voted a 12-1-2 per cent insurance tax; a $3 exemption on theater admissions; a 25 per cent tax on prize fight admissions; 10 per cent on capital stock transfers, and a graduated reduction on intermediate surtaxes. The surtax cut is retroactive to 1927 for individuals, but not for corporations.

Three Defendants Are Dismissed In Over-Issue Trial

LOS ANGELES, April 26.—Only seven defendants will face the court when the final evidence is presented and the closing arguments started in the Julian Petroleum corporation over-issue trial next Wednesday.

Three of the original 10 financial leaders charged with conspiracy to wreck the $100,000,000 oil organization were dismissed by order of Superior Judge Doran late yesterday.

Judge Doran held that evidence against them was not sufficient to convict.

The trio, H. F. Campbell, former vice president of the A. C. Wazy company; Louis Berman, brother of Jacob Berman, alias Jack Bennett, and C. E. Reese, stock broker, went to the stand immediately to testify in behalf of S. C. Lewis, former president of Julian.

Transatlantic Flyers Reach Lake St. Agnes

Intrepid Trio May Attend
Floyd Bennett Funeral
In Washington

(By United Press)
MURRAY BAY, Que., April 26.—The crew of the transatlantic plane "Bremen" landed on Lake St. Agnes from Greenly Island at 3:52 p. m. today, in the tri-motored Ford relief plane, piloted by Bert Balchen.

They made the 650 miles from the Labrador island in nine hours and 10 minutes, having left Greenly Island at 7:45 a. m. Atlantic standard time (6:45 a. m. eastern standard time.)

Lands at 3:55

The big relief plane circled over the Lake St. Agnes airfield, 15 miles from Murray Bay, at 3:50 p. m., and five minutes later came to a stop on the ice of the lake.

The Ford plane, flying about 300 feet high, was sighted at 3:50 p. m. It circled the field twice and landed on the ice, taxiing about 150 yards before coming to a dead stop.

Baron Von Huenefeld was the first to alight. The entire population of St. Agnes, numbering about 100 persons, rushed toward the plane. Duke Schiller, the Canadian aviator, was first to arrive and greet the Germans.

Glad Its Over
"It's great to have this over," the Baron said with evident relief. Maj. James Fitzmaurice was second to alight.

"We hated to leave the 'Bremen'." It was like leaving a son behind," he said.

Fraulin Junkers greeted the flyers with tears in her eyes. She shook hands with the two Germans.

"I was the most disappointed person in the world not to be able to get out to the island and see you there," she said, "and I take full responsibility for failing to include the skills for the 'Bremen'."

The daughter of the "Bremen's" designer went aside with Captain Koehl and had a long talk. She then announced that the Ford relief plane, with herself and its present crew, would leave at 8 a. m., tomorrow, for Washington to pay respects to Floyd Bennett.

BACKFIRING TACTICS OF UTILITIES TOLD

WASHINGTON, April 26.—Josiah W. Newcomb, general counsel for the joint committee of national utilities associations, disclosed at the federal trade commission hearing today that his organization has attempted to start "backfires" against members of congress who opposed its stand on seven major items of proposed legislation.

Newcomb said his committee urged constituents of congressmen to write and wire their protests on the Walsh resolution for a senate utilities inquiry, proposals for government power plants at Muscle Shoals and Boulder dam, the Shipstead anti-injunction bill, federal power regulation and standardization of weights and measures.

SAN QUENTIN, April 26.—Lonnie Johnson, Merced wife slayer, is suffering from tubercular peritonitis and may die a natural death before his scheduled execution, of May 11, Dr. L. L. Stanley, prison surgeon, said today.

Johnson, a Negro, never will get well, prison physicians said, and his illness may result fatally within a day or two.

SENATE SEEKS INDICTMENT OF STEWART ON PERJURY COUNT

(By United Press)
WASHINGTON, April 26.—An order was adopted by the senate today directing the U. S. attorney here to inspect the Teapot Dome testimony of Chairman Robert W. Stewart, of the Standard Oil company of Indiana, with a view to seeking his indictment for perjury.

This action was taken after Chairman Nye, of the Teapot Dome committee, had compared Stewart with Benedict Arnold and Senator Norris, Republican, Nebraska, had said Stewart is "either a fool or a crook and everybody knows he is not a fool."

The order contained a report of Stewart's testimony before the Teapot Dome committee on February 1 and April 24. It carried a statement that the record was transmitted "with a view to having the district attorney determine if Stewart should not be presented to a federal grand jury on a charge of perjury."

A second order was adopted, vacating the senate's arrest of Stewart, which was affected February 3 because of his refusal to answer certain questions on his first appearance.

The second order carried two amendments specifically directing that later contempt indictments in the federal court here be prosecuted vigorously.

A protest was sounded by Senators Nye, Norris, Glass and Heflin against an original proposal submitted by Senator Walsh, of Montana.

Walsh would not have mentioned the pending indictment nor specified certain questions on his first appearance.

NEW CITY HALL DEDICATED IN LOS ANGELES

30,000 Marchers in Parade Celebrating Opening Of Building

(By United Press)
LOS ANGELES, April 26.—Los Angeles celebrated and formally dedicated its new city hall today.

In ceremonies that started at 10 o'clock in the morning and were to continue until midnight, hundreds of thousands of people paid homage to the newest and most beautiful of the city's municipal buildings.

More than 30,000 people were in the parade which started shortly after 10 a. m., and wound through the downtown streets and finally to the edifice itself.

200 Visiting Mayors
All municipalities in Los Angeles county were represented by one or more officials in the parade and 200 visiting mayors, including Mayor Rolph, of San Francisco, added dignity to the spectacle.

Thirty-four bands led the marchers, while 1000 police were called to duty to aid in controlling the spectators who lined all points of vantage. It was estimated that the parade took four hours to pass any given point.

At noon a formal luncheon to visiting and local dignitaries drew 500 people.

The official dedication was to take place at 3 p. m., when Arthur Eldridge, president of the board of public works, turns the keys to the hall over to Mayor George Cryer.

LOANS TO BROKERS REACH NEW RECORD

WASHINGTON, April 26.—Loans on stocks and bonds to brokers and dealers by reporting federal reserve member banks in New York City, on April 25, increased $15,385,000 to a new record high at $414,356,000 during the week. This compares with the previous record high of $412,901,000, on April 18, and an average of $2,882,994,000 on April 27, 1927.

Dance Marathon Winners Prepare For Theater Tour

OCEAN PARK, Calif., April 26.—Two couples, the survivors from 33 starters in the Bon Ton ballroom marathon, were preparing today to enjoy the laurels earned in 140 hours of consecutive dancing.

They were Evelyn Torrance and Norris Scott and Violet Pompey and Horace Dunn, all of Southern California, who, with 15-minute rest periods each hour, danced from 5 p. m., Thursday, until 12:45 p. m., Wednesday.

The quartet will embark on a theatrical engagement next week and already the $1500 cash prize offered to the winners has been split.

Annexation Proposal Is Voted Down

Residents in the district north of Santa Ana proposed for annexation yesterday voted emphatically their disapproval of the movement. The vote was 92 against and 44 for annexation. The number of ballots cast was 138, two being thrown out because of irregularities in marking. One was marked with a lead pencil and another was marked with stamp and lead pencil. According to an election official, one was for and the other against annexation.

A check of the registration for the district reveals that a large number registered on March 23 and 24, the last two days before expiration of time for registering for this particular election.

Virtually every voter in the district cast a ballot and the avalanche of ballots against the proposition was said to be a surprise even to those who were opposing the program.

Increase in taxes was the big bugaboo, according to men who worked in the district prior to the election, ranch owners taking the position that the benefits they would derive by incorporation within the city limits would not be commensurate with the added tax burden.

CHINESE KIDNAP ONE AMERICAN AND SLAY TWO

(By United Press)
PEKING, April 26.—Reports here today told of the capture of one American missionary and the killing of two others in Shantung province.

None of the reports has been verified.

The American legion received word that L. C. Osborn, American missionary for the Church of Nazarene mission, at Chaohing, had been arrested by General Feng Yu Hsiang and sent to Kailchow, in Southern Chihli.

The report to the legation did not indicate why Osborn had been arrested and deported. There was also an unconfirmed report in Peking that Chinese soldiers had killed two American Methodist missionaries at Yenchow in Shantung province. This report, however, had not been received by the American legation.

At present there are 29 Americans remaining in southern Shantung despite legation advice to withdraw.

FOUR INJURED IN STRIKE OUTBREAKS

STEVENSVILLE, O., April 26.—Four men, three of them railroad detectives, were injured in outbreaks in the strike torn coal mining regions today.

The detectives, patrolling the New York Central right-of-way south of Alliance, were hurt when their railway speeder was wrecked by a spike inserted between two switch points.

National Guardsmen and deputy sheriffs were called out to disperse 400 striking miners who halted a Wheeling and Lake Erie train, carrying non-union workers from Wheeling to Dillonvale. Three men were arrested.

A non-union miner was stabbed, probably fatally, in a brawl near St. Clairsville.

CAMPAIGN LOG

Washington friends of Herbert Hoover and Governor Smith of New York say they are certain to be the presidential nominees of their parties. They point out that Hoover now has 249 uncontested delegates with 545 necessary to nominate and Smith has 472 uncontested delegates, with 734 necessary to nominate.

Senator James E. Watson in an address at South Bend, Ind., said he had as much chance of obtaining the Republican presidential nomination as did Warren Harding in 1920.

George R. Vannamie, member of the New York State Public Commission and close friend of Governor Smith, has been appointed chairman of the preconvention activities committee for Smith.

Ogden L. Mills, under secretary of the treasury, said Secretary of Commerce Hoover was certain to receive the Republican presidential nomination; certain to win the election in November, and would win the New York state delegation of 90 votes.

The two Republican delegates at large from Alaska to the Republican National convention probably will be unopposed, it was indicated after the primary election there.

Governor Smith has gone to Abasco, N. J., for a few days vacation before returning to Albany.

Seamen of Rammed, Blazing Vessels Rescued From Life Boats

(By United Press)
NORFOLK, Va., April 26.—The disabled U. S. shipping board freighter Western Ocean, from Portland, Ore., was missing today off the Virginia capes. The line by which it was being towed to port had to be cut because of a gale, the Coast Guard reported.

The guard cutter Mascoutin is searching for the ship about 250 miles off the capes.

The ship has a crew of 51.

Crew Of Blazing Steamer Rescued

NEW YORK, April 26.—The steamer Overbrook is afire after an explosion at latitude 23:55 north and longitude 79:30 west, according to advices to the Radio Marine Corporation of America.

The crew, estimated at about 35 men, took to lifeboats and was rescued by the steamer Fred Weller, which was in the vicinity.

The position of the vessel was estimated at about 150 miles off the Florida coast.

The explosion and subsequent fire occurred about 4:15 a. m., today, according to the message to the radio service. There were no details of what had caused the explosion.

The entire crew was believed to have been picked up by the Weller.

Lloyd's registry lists the steamer Overbrook as a 6725-ton steel screw steamer owned by the U. S. shipping board. Its home port was Philadelphia and it was equipped with cylindrical tanks for carrying petroleum.

Declare Martial Law In Bulgaria Earthquake Area

BERLIN, April 26.—Martial law has been declared in the Bulgarian earthquake area to curb looting, the newspaper Der Tag reported today.

POISONED GIRLS Sue Radium Firm For $1,250,000

NEWARK, N. J., April 26.—Five girls who are suing the United States Radium company for damages totaling $1,250,000, heard physicians doom them to slow and painful deaths today.

Mrs. Elsie Winton, 18, had escaped from the house with her 7-months-old baby and returned to save her brothers, Wilbur and Harvey Stanley, 9 and 11 years old. All perished.

Medical experts, in a hearing before Vice Chancellor John H. Backes, testified that science had found no means of combating the radium poisoning from which the girls are suffering.

They were poisoned, they said, by wetting brushes in their mouths while painting clock and watch dials illuminated by a radium compound.

LABOR PROBE By Congress Is Proposed

(By United Press)
WASHINGTON, April 26.—A resolution proposing a joint congressional committee to investigate unemployment was introduced today by Representative Jacob Stein, Democrat, New York, and Senator La Follette, Republican, Wisconsin.

The committee would be composed of three members of the senate and house committees on education and labor. It would be directed to ascertain continuously the fluctuation of labor employment and to consider the proposal to establish unemployment insurance and a bill to stimulate federal, state and civic public works at low employment periods.

H. L. MILLER IS NAMED SCHOOL BOARD MEMBER

(By United Press)
WASHINGTON, April 26.—The boulder dam project will not cost the taxpayers a single cent, Senator Hiram Johnson told the senate today, opening debate upon his bill.

All the money advanced from the treasury will be repaid with interest, Johnson said. He added that the project was national in character because its primary purpose is to control floods on the lower Colorado river for protection of the Imperial valley of California and certain portions of Arizona.

Will Fill Vacancy Brought About by Resignation Of George Dunton

The Santa Ana board of education last night selected Herbert L. Miller to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of George Dunton, former president of the body.

Miller is a member of the Lions club and a graduate of Stanford university.

The board accepted Dunton's resignation just prior to the election of Miller. The former head of the board stepped out of office on April 10, but his colleagues took no action on the matter at that time.

Dr. M. A. Patton, vice president of the board, presided last night, but indicated that he would favor a reorganization of the body because of Dunton's resignation.

A communication from the Newport Harbor Chamber of Commerce informed the gathering that residents of the Costa Mesa and beach area were not desirous of having a board member from that region appointed. The letter stated that the question of securing a senior high school in that district is paramount in the minds of many and that the selection of a representative from Costa Mesa of Newport Beach might complicate the issue.

The legal aspect of the situation now is pending in court, the letter averred, and intimated that such an appointment might change the status of the attempt to establish a high school.

Although the board has taken no action regarding an appointment from the coast region, the possibility had been discussed in certain circles, it was understood.

GERMAN FLYERS LEAVE ISLAND IN FORD PLANE

winged its way up the St. Lawrence valley, carrying the air companions he strove to save. Floyd Bennett's body was started on the road to Arlington National cemetery today to rest among America's honored dead.

Simple funeral services were said for Bennett, victim of pneumonia after he had flown the Ford plane from Detroit to St. Agnes enroute to the stranded German-Irish flyers on Greenly island.

Planes flew overhead, the whirr of their motors a dirge for a fellow flyer whose life had been sacrificed in a daring aviation exploit.

The governments of Canada and the United States were represented.

Flags At Half Mast

Flags were at half mast on the garrison and city hall.

Com. Richard E. Byrd and Mrs. Bennett attended the simple chapel service. Byrd, Bennett's chief on the flight over the north pole, had watched beside him in his dying hours and after his passing announced that in honor of this brave air pal, he would rename the "Floyd Bennett expedition."

The American consul and Mrs. Bennett, comforting Mrs. Bennett in her illness and the shock of her personal tragedy, were prominent in the cortege that took the body, in aviation uniform, to the station.

The body will arrive in Montreal late this afternoon for transfer to New York. In New York, it will be transferred again to the train for Washington, where, on Friday, with military tribute, Bennett will be buried on the sloping Arlington hills above the Potomac.

Body Lies In State

Clad in the aviation uniform he loved and wore until death claimed him in the service of the air, Bennett's body lay in state this morning. Flowers were heaped about the bier in the little chapel. Cards and messages of condolence from near and far told of the esteem of two nations for the latest martyr to the conquest of the air.

The only note to mar the farewell had been voiced last night by Canadian government representatives, who publicly resented using Lindbergh in what they termed a "publicity stunt" when serum, they said, was available in Canada.

German Flyers May Attend Funeral

NEW YORK, April 26.—Baron Von Huenefeld, Capt. Hermann Koehl and Maj. James Fitzmaurice may attend the funeral of Floyd Bennett, in Washington, tomorrow, George A. Whalen, chairman of the mayor's reception committee, said today.

"The attending of the funeral of Floyd Bennett by the crew of the 'Bremen' all depends upon their disposition," he said. "The time of their arrival in New York is another factor that must be taken into consideration. The subject has not been broached to the three flyers as yet, but it is possible they may go."

Bennett Will Be Buried Near Peary In Arlington

WASHINGTON, April 26.—Floyd Bennett, martyr airman, will be buried with full military honors tomorrow in Arlington National cemetery, not 100 feet from the grave of Adm. Robert E. Peary, discoverer of the north pole.

Thus, in the future, pilgrims may at one time visit the shrine of two noted polar explorers, one who mushed his way to triumph through the Arctic ice and one who, with Com. Richard E. Byrd, was first to fly across the northern hub of the earth.

Fall's condition was much improved today, his attendants said.

STEWART MAY FACE SENATE PERJURY COUNT

fied the reason why the senate was sending the record of Stewart's testimony to the U. S. attorney.

The suggestion of perjury prosecution was adopted in an amendment proposed by Glass and accepted by Walsh.

A provision that the state insist on Stewart's prosecution "for the offense he committed against the senate" was adopted as ordered by Heflin.

The senate's action was unanimous.

Stewart has no more right to be excused from contempt proceedings than Benedict Arnold had to be excused from his treachery, Nye told the senate.

He said Stewart was liable for perjury because of alleged discrepancies in his testimony on February 1, compared with his statements before the committee last Tuesday.

At first, Nye said, Stewart testified he knew nothing about Continental Trading company bonds, although on his second appearance he admitted getting $750,000 of them.

Nye's statement was made after Senator Walsh, of Montana, had submitted a report from the committee reciting Stewart's testimony in detail. Walsh presented two orders—the first vacating the arrest of Stewart for contempt and the second sending the evidence to the district attorney here without a recommendation for prosecution.

"Whether Stewart was entirely frank and truthful, he did answer all the questions on his second appearance," Walsh said. "He, therefore, has purged himself of contempt proceedings as far as the senate is concerned, although there are many irreconcilable differences between his testimony on the first and second occasion."

JAPAN FORCES REPORTERS TO IGNORE NEWS

BY MILES W. VAUGHN
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
TOKYO, April 26.—Japan still clings to the belief that bad news should be suppressed—or at least delayed.

Working on this theory, the government, through its police, last month prohibited throughout the empire publication of any details regarding a nationwide raid against alleged radicals in which upwards of 700 people were taken into custody.

Newspapers, press associations and foreign correspondents throughout Japan knew all about the raids but were forbidden to publish or telegraph their information.

One newspaper, the Tokyo Hochi Shimbun, did manage to publish an obscure reference to the news. It said:

"About 1000 persons were arrested throughout the country in connection with a certain important case yesterday. The case now is under investigation throughout the country. It is believed about half those arrested will be released tonight. All reports are prohibited from publication both by police and judiciary order."

The Nippon Dempo news agency, largest news service in Japan, also distributed a guarded reference to the event which it also referred to as an "important case" which was discussed by the ministers of home affairs, finance and justice with the premier after a cabinet meeting.

The general public was kept in complete darkness, however, for days and foreign correspondents who attempted to file telegrams to their agencies abroad were left in the dark as to whether or not their cables were dispatched or left to die in a censor's pigeon hole. Telegrams demanded but the correspondents were given no assurance when the messages would be dispatched.

It was the second time in recent months a drastic censorship has been established in the country, applying both to domestic and foreign publication. Last November a private in the Japanese army, one T. Kitahara, attempted to present a direct appeal to Emperor Hirohito while the ruler was reviewing his troops at Nagoya, following the fall military maneuvers. The emperor was not injured and Kitahara was promptly arrested, but the Japanese people did not learn of the news for days. Finally a carefully expurgated story was allowed to be published.

The news as finally given out merely said the Kitahara, a member of the outcast or pariah class of "Shuiheshu," had attempted to present a note to his majesty complaining against the treatment alleged to have been received by Shuiheshu conscripts, that he had been arrested and would be tried for indiscipline. Japanese newspapers on the spot when the incident occurred, however, told a different story, asserting Kitahara broke ranks and thrust his appeal dramatically towards the emperor on the point of his bayonet.

Kitahara now is in prison, but may be pardoned, at the time of the coronation of the emperor next November 10.

Censorship of the news in peace time has existed for hundreds of years in Japan and despite the growing power of the press still is enforced with drastic efficiency at any time the police think it advisable.

12-YEAR-OLD BOY COMMITTS SUICIDE

LOS ANGELES, April 26.—A youth, who, at the age of 12, found life not worth while, died here today as the result of a self-inflicted wound.

He was Charles R. Lee, just turned 12. He sent a small calibre bullet through his temple last night while members of his family were away from home on a shopping tour. He died this morning in a receiving hospital.

A note found under his crumpled body served to explain his deed and to act as a last will and testament.

"I can think for myself and I did," it read. "I find I have been a failure in everything and life is not worth while. Give my train to Raymond Whitney."

The new city hall represents an expenditure of $9,000,000. Of this amount, $5,000,000 went into the building itself, while the cost of the site and furnishings aggregated $4,000,000.

The structure is 452 feet high, contains 28 stories and 20 acres of floor space.

LOS ANGELES, April 26.—Three councilmen insisted on "being proper" at today's exercises dedicating new city hall and they wore formal dress, although city council voted to go "informal."

Snapper Ingram, William Hughes and Virgil Martin were the officials to appear in the silk hats, cutaways and striped trousers. The remainder wore business suits.

Crew Of Rammed Boat Taken Aboard Schooner

CHATHAM, Mass., April 26.—Five seamen were rescued today when the three masted schooner William Booth was rammed and sunk by the four masted Helen Bennett Grange, of Boston, about four miles off Chatham.

Struck amidships, the Booth, heavily loaded with granite blocks, filled and sank in less than three minutes. Her crew was taken aboard the Grange.

The accident was revealed several hours after it occurred when Coast Guards of the Chatham station, through glasses, espied the peaks of the wrecked schooner's masts protruding from the distant sea.

POTRERO DISTRICT GUSHER COMES IN

LOS ANGELES, April 26.—Special guards were called out last night to control crowds attracted to the Potrero district by the roar that announced that the Associated Oil company's Cypress well No. 1 was in.

It was estimated that the well was flowing 20,000,000 cubic feet of gas a day, the gas carrying oil well over the crown block.

A WORD OF COMFORT
It is easy to throw away the best for something which looks to be "good enough." God deals with character and with kindness while we are over-concentrated upon our quest for things. Fortunately God in His mercy permits us to know a degree of satisfaction with our attainment of "lesser goods." But His evident purpose is to whet our appetite for the deeper contentment which is to be found only through an increasing sense of commitment to His glorious purpose for our development of character in communion with Him.

Draw close to Him in your grief and refuse to be turned aside from your quest for His heart.

CHRISTIANSEN—In Garden Grove, April 25, 1928, Clara Christiansen, aged 26 years, wife of Ray B. Christiansen and mother of Edwin, Ella May, Robert and Marion Christiansen. Notice of funeral will be announced later by Smith and Tutill.

ASKS DISMISSAL OF RESTRAINING ORDER

A motion to dismiss a temporary restraining order directed against the Security Bank and Trust com-pany, Bakersfield, was taken up for advisement today by Superior Judge James L. Allen. The mat-ter probably will be before the court again next Monday when the Bakersfield bank is scheduled to appear and show cause why the order should not be made per-manent.

At that time, according to Judge Allen, the whole case will be brought before the court.

The move to dissolve the re-straining order was made on the grounds that the defendant bank has been authorized to use its name by the banking commis-sioner of California, and that the court therefore has no jurisdic-tion.

The Security Trust and Savings bank, Los Angeles, started action against the Security Bank and Trust company seeking to have it enjoined from using that name, asserting that the similarity is leading the public to confuse the two institutions.

German Waiters Return To London

BERLIN, April 26.—German wait-ers are to work in English hotels and restaurants again for the first time since the war. Four German waiters have left Germany for Eng-land and others soon will follow them.

According to German estimates, more than 40 per cent of all em-ployees in English hotels and res-taurants before the war were Ger-mans.

The "Neue Berliner Zeitung" states that the first group of Ger-man waiters to resume work in England and who have just depart-ed, have been engaged for a period of five years at wages between $30 and $35 a week—far more than they could earn in Germany.

PREDICT SMITH AND HOOVER TO BE CANDIDATES

BY PAUL R. MALLON
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 26.—The possibility that Herbert Hoover and Gov. Al Smith may meet as the nominees of their parties in the November election was the chief subject of discussion in Washing-ton political circles today, follow-ing the Massachusetts, Pennsylv-ania and Ohio primaries.

Elaborate claims on the nomina-tions were being made by cam-paign managers, supporters and friends of both Hoover and Smith; and the contentions bore such weight of reasonable expectations that they were accepted for seri-ous discussion among all the fac-tions of both parties.

Hoover's friends now say they have an excellent chance to car-ry Indiana in the primary. May 8, against Senator James E. Wat-son, the native son candidate.

Smith's friends report that the California primary next Tuesday will put an end to any doubt which may exist concerning their candi-date.

"If Smith carries California it's all over but the shouting," they are telling everyone around Washing-ton.

The fight there is between Smith and Senator Thomas J. Walsh, of Montana, who is being backed by Smith's old opponent, William G. McAdoo, in McAdoo's home state. Senator James A. Reed, of Missouri, is entered in the contest, but the Smith people claim the main battle is against Walsh.

They reason that if Smith is able to beat Walsh in McAdoo's home territory, doubtful Democrats over the country will be so im-pressed by his vote-getting pow-ers that they will make no effort to oppose him seriously.

Two weeks ago, Indiana political observers saw no chance for Hoover there. Now they say he not only has a chance but a good one. They point out that the Re-publicans of the neighboring states of Michigan, Ohio, and Kentucky, now have manifested a strong de-sire for Hoover.

Illinois Republicans, on the fourth side, have overthrown the entrenched Republican machine. Charges of corruption are believed by Hoover followers to have de-moralized the old Republican In-diana organization.

As matters now stand, Hoover has 249 uncontested delegates and Smith about 472, with 545 neces-sary to nominate in the Republi-can convention and 734 in the Democratic convention.

Modern Airports In Every State

WASHINGTON, April 26.—Avia-tors can now fly to any state and find modern airports and supplies for their planes, according to a survey made by the commerce de-partment.

The United States now has 1075 airport landing fields and nearly 4000 other places on which planes can make landings. Aids for day or night flying are available at 231 fields.

California with 115 air fields leads all other states but Wyoming with 21 fields has the highest pro-portion of most modern equipped air posts.

Texas is second with 90 fields, Pennsylvania third with 68 and Illinois fourth with 58.

Orville Schuchardt is president of the federation. James Warner is secretary, and Ray Adkinson, faculty advisor.

SANTA ANA TO SEEK MEETING STATE FIREMEN

Support of delegates from sev-eral fire companies in the south-land was promised Orange county firemen in their campaign to bring the 1929 convention of the State Firemen's association to Fullerton. It was declared here today by Boyd Sleeper, assistant fire chief of the Santa Ana department and secretary of the Orange County Firemen's association.

Assurance of such support was given at the meeting of the county association at Huntington Beach Wednesday night, by Captain W. A. Meyers, Los Angeles, president of the state organization; H. E. Strasser, San Diego, secretary of the state body; A. Olcovich, Red-lands, recording secretary of the state association, and W. A. Ful-ler, Pasadena, battalion chief of the Pasadena department.

A resolution was adopted urging that all delegates from Orange county to the state convention of 1929 work in behalf of the move-ment to bring the big gathering to Fullerton.

A. E. McFarland, Los Angeles, representative of the Fire Under-writers of the Pacific, was the principal speaker and talked at some length on the "move-up" plan, a system by which a depart-ment in one city may help another at a time of a serious conflagra-tion. He emphasized the point that the insurance rate is in no way involved when a piece of ap-paratus leaves its home city to help a neighbor. The belief pre-vals, it is said, that rates would be higher in cities where an ex-change of equipment is agreed to.

Dr. Charles Whitehead, chief surgeon at the Los Angeles re-ceiving hospital for the past 32 years, discussing the handling of persons suffering from burns and gave out some valuable infor-mation as to how to treat victims.

Dinner was served the group by the Huntington Beach department. The May meeting of the associa-tion will be held at Orange on a date to be arranged later.

S. A. AIR CLUB WILL STUDY AT MEETING

Members of the Santa Ana Air club plan to study a book entitled "Practical Flight" at the next four meetings of the organization. Plans for the study of the book were made at last night's meet-ing held in the Finley hotel.

It was decided that each mem-ber present at last night's meeting would bring two other persons to the next meeting of the club.

For One week, "Seven Days," you can have what's left of these watches and clocks at prices that will positively make you money. "And I'll take your old gold." After all what's the use of making money un-less you can save some of it. That's the reason I'm going upstairs.

METHODISTS OF S. A. SUBSCRIBE OVER $60,000

Pledges amounting to $60,000 have been made to the fund for erection by the First Methodist church of a new building on the corner of Sixth and Spurgeon streets and for remodeling the present edifice, it was revealed at a meeting last night of the 30 workers engaged in the soliciting campaign.

According to the Rev. George Warner, pastor, pledges of $3000 above the sum named had been made conditionally. The goal is $85,000 and the pastor and workers believe this sum will be fully raised by the time all adherents of the church have been interviewed and given opportunity to subscribe.

An educational and social unit is to be erected and it is estimated the cost of this will be around $75,000. The balance of the fund will be used in remodeling the old church and providing equipment for the new unit.

Those in charge of the enterprise are ambitious that the full cost of the proposed building should be subscribed before any contract is let, to the end that there may be no debt unprovided for. W. A. Taylor, drive chairman, said, "Enthusiastic co-operation, unanimity of spirit and purpose, and a determination to succeed in the achievement of a dignified and urgently needed building for the education of the children and youth of the congregation, characterize the campaign. The proposed building, which now seems definitely assured, will be a substantial and useful one, and of a character, as shown by the tentative plans of the architect, which will be a credit to the church people and to the city."

BEACH MAN LEAVES ESTATE OF $30,000

The late John Brush, Huntington Beach, who died April 21, at the age of 71, left property valued at $30,000, according to a petition for probating his will, which was filed today by C. A. Brush, a son, who was named executor.

He and his brother, F. I. Brush, Santa Ana, were left nothing by the terms of the will, which stated that they had received advances before the death of Brush.

With the exception of a $2000 bequest to Margaret Brush, granddaughter, of Bellflower, the entire estate was given to Nellie M. Inman, a daughter, of Santa Ana, and to Bertha I. Cannon, a daughter, of Bishop.

Zane Grey Plans South Sea Trip

Capt. L. D. Mitchell, associate of Grey, plans to leave San Francisco in May on the steamer Tahiti, taking with him several workmen who will prepare a permanent camp on an island location picked out by Grey on a previous voyage.

Mitchell is now assembling supplies for the venture.

"I Was Sick—"

This Simple, Natural Food Made Me Well!

"MY STOMACH made me miserable. I dragged around only half alive because of constipation. Agmel changed this. Now I forget I have a stomach. Constipation is gone. I'm full of pep. And I did not diet—just used Agmel with hearty, well balanced meals."

L. B. CURTIS, Hollywood, Calif.

Agmel is not a medicine, but a natural raw health food from Mexico—the sap of the Mesquite plant unchanged except for removal of water without cooking. Rich in vitamins, minerals, yeast, tastes delicious. Non-alcoholic. Magnesium used as a laxative in Mexico. Now world-famous. Thousands praise Agmel—see letters and other free literature at drugists.

ANNUAL SPRING FLOWER SHOW OF SANTA ANA EBELL SOCIETY OPENS FOR TWO DAY SESSION

Roses, roses everywhere, and with them, snapdragons and fragrant stocks, irises, columbines, fragile shirley poppies and all the lovely flowers that riot in California gardens, were to be seen today at Ebells clubhouse, where the society's annual spring market and flower show opened for its two-days session.

This display of the season's flowers, is always eagerly anticipated by the general public, and is a constant incentive to amateur gardeners to extend their activities and arrange their gardens so that they may have flowers to enter in the competitive groups.

This year's offering of bloom is quite as beautiful as in previous years, and the peacock room, where the flowers are shown, is a scene of color and charm. Directly within the door are two huge baskets, one of delicately tinted snapdragons, and the other of stocks in varied hues, the two seeming to set the color note for the display.

Long tables, are a-bloom with the loveliest of roses—great velvety red ones, scenting the surrounding air, gracious pink blooms, dainty Cecil Bruners, Cherokees like fragile pink shells, and the richer, rarer varieties that are grown by rose lovers. A handsome silver cup will reward the grower with the finest display.

One table, laden with baskets of widely varied specimens, was especially interesting as an example of the flowers which may be grown in one garden. The basket entered by Mrs. R. S. Thompson, boasted 46 varieties. There were many novelties entered, one a basket of fairy lanterns, an exquisite little white blossom which grows in northern gardens but is quite new here. A striking cluster of gladioli introduced a new blossom, called the Oranico. It is a primulinus—that is of the smaller variety, and is of a lovely tone of creamy salmon. Mrs. Emerson Marks is in charge of the cut flower display. The walls of the peacock room, are banked with willow as a background for the blossoms, and the stage is most inviting with its artistic garden furniture. An electric fountain, and many singing birds in pretty cages, complete the garden scene.

Decorations were planned by Mrs. W. L. Salisbury, who with her committee, attained the very attractive effect. Of the various booths, that of donated plants and bulbs, is in charge of Mrs. J. C. Lamb, while seeds and bulbs are displayed on tables in charge of Mrs. P. L. Tope.

Warranted to please the most epicurean taste, are the vegetables, fruits and ranch products presided over by Mrs. J. A. Prescott. There may be purchased syrupy canned peaches, jams, marmalades and spiced fruits, as well as loquats, kumquats, avocados, artichokes, and the humbler but equally inviting carrots, spinach, turnips and beets of the kitchen garden.

For those who would learn how to grow a California garden, are the books selected from the city library by Miss Jeannette McFadden, librarian.

Mrs. Cood Adams and Mrs. H. J. Forgy have general supervision over the flower show, for which the judges were to be Russell Adkinson of Santa Ana; T. B. Robertson of Fullerton, and Murray C. McNeil of the Armstrong nurseries in Ontario. Mrs. J. T. Wilson, who last year had charge of the display, is chairman of the awards committee.

Mrs. J. E. Gowan and her committee are at the door to greet patrons and collect the necessary ten cents admission. In the foyer are three tables which are difficult to pass. The first with Mrs. E. M. Nealley and Miss Beulah May in charge, offers books galore, which may be purchased for a quarter and a book. The next offers home-made sweets and across from it is the table of home-cooked foods with Mrs. James Clark and members of the Fourth Household Economics section in charge.

In the patio small tables are arranged under huge garden umbrellas, for luncheon, and nearby are the brightly painted gardening tools, baskets and pillows, done by Mesdames J. A. Cranston, John Ball, William S. Kellogg, H. H. Dana and Willis P. Baker. The lounge is given over to the apron display in charge of Mrs. Cood Adams and Mrs. L. E. Allen, and to a collection of unusually beautiful etchings, some of them, hand-colored, offered by Mrs. John Tassmann. The etchings are the work of a group of some 15 Austrian artists, including Casimir and Locks, noted as the finest masters of the art in Europe. All are reasonably priced, varying from 15 cents to 50 cents.

The country store in the section room in charge of the Third Household Economics section, offers all manner of grocery supplies at reduced rates, while nearby is the post office with mail for every Ebells member, and with Mrs. Fred Conover as postmistress. Mrs. Elmer Burns and Mrs. W. L. Grubb with members of the Second Household Economics section, today offered the most delicious of Southern baked ham, and other delicacies for the lunch hour, while tomorrow, the Current Events section under Mrs. C. H. Lurker, will have charge.

The flower show's entertainment feature, "The Womanless Wedding," will be repeated tonight in the auditorium, after scoring a success last night.

JUDGE ORDERS EMPLOYERS TO PAY WORKMEN

Superior Judge Homer G. Ames does not believe that oil workers, or any other workers, perhaps, can legally collect wages while they are on a strike, he said today.

On the other hand they are entitled to receive what is coming to them for the time they actually work, and he decided yesterday that Foster W. Byers must pay wages to 12 men who are said to have worked for him in oil operations at Huntington Beach.

F. C. Deck, one of the employees, brought the matter into court after the claims of the others had been assigned to him. His complaint alleged that the men had worked for 14 days and had been unable to collect from Byers.

Judge Ames, after listening to the evidence, decided that the men were not entitled to get pay for five days when they are alleged to have been off the job. But he ordered Byers to pay them for the nine days that they were shown to have worked. Deck was represented by A. J. Thedick, Huntington Beach attorney. John E. Dalton was counsel for Byers.

TWO EL PASO COHENS

There are two El Paso Cohens in the baseball world. One is Andy Cohen with the New York Giants and the other is Sydney, his brother, a pitcher in the Pacific Coast league.

WESTMINSTER

WESTMINSTER, April 26.—A party was given Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Knox for the Christian Endeavor society members of the Presbyterian church at which time the losing side in a membership contest which has just closed, entertained the winners. The two divisions were the Go Getters and the Albatross and the Go Getters added the largest number of names to the local C. E. membership roll. Captains of the teams were Miss Helen McCoy and Carl Bargman. The contest lasted two months.

Mrs. Zelma Johnson, who underwent a major operation last Saturday morning at the Santa Ana Valley hospital, is getting along nicely and is expected to be at home within another week.

A new electric stove was installed this week in the Richard Arnette home.

Mrs. Virginia Patterson, who has been spending some months in Pasadena and Los Angeles with relatives, returned to her home Tuesday evening to remain a few days.

Daniel Welty, father of Mrs. R. A. Weld, is spending a few days in the Weld home from Los Angeles, where he has been with his son. Mr. Welty, who has been convalescing from an operation is regaining his health.

The school board of the Westminster district is to hold its first meeting since the recent election on next Saturday evening and at that time W. F. Loftus, new director, will be duly installed as a board member. Mrs. Floyd Morris is secretary of the board and T. E. Turpin is the third member.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Penhall and two sons motored to the Los Angeles county lion farm one day this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Williams, brother-in-law and sister of Orval Day, were here from Rosemead as guests in the Day home.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Terry and family of Compton, were recent visitors in the home of his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Terry, and Mary Druce, of Alamitos was a guest the same day of Maxine Terry.

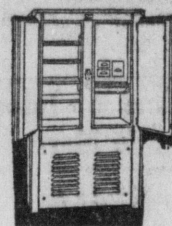

Ruth Spencer was absent from school Monday on account of illness.

The pupils of the sixth, seventh and eighth grades of the Westminster school will attend the Ramona pageant at Hemet May 5, the school busses to be used for transportation.

The Safety committee of the Westminster school is to give a play at a later date and those taking part are now rehearsing for it. Jack Ruttle is president of the safety committee and those taking parts in the play are from different grades of the school.

Preparations for the commencement exercises for the graduates of the local school on the evenings of June 5 and 7 are being made, one of the programs to be an operetta given by the seventh grade pupils of the school.

EVERY MUSICAL SHOW IN NEW YORK USES LUX to double the life of stockings

Silk and net costumes, organdie hats, extra-long chiffon stockings—all must be sparkling, to make this gay chorus from Ziegfeld's "Rosalie" so adorable! Marilyn Miller, center

STOCKINGS that shimmer in the brilliant glow of the foot-lights—what critical scrutiny they receive! What strenuous wear!

Every woman knows what a problem it is to keep stockings new-looking—and how vitally important, when stockings cost so much. New York's musical shows face this same problem, magnified many times over!

Wardrobe mistresses must keep thousands of dollars' worth of stockings in perfect condition. And make them last!

To find the safest way to wash silk stockings, different methods have been tried.

And the fact is disclosed that stockings washed in Lux wear twice as long! Give twice as many performances as those laundered by other methods!

This means so much in dollars and cents to the producers of New York's dazzling musical shows, that they now insist upon Lux.

They all do it

So the wardrobe mistress of every musical show in New York—without exception—specifies Lux for washing silk stockings. They buy it in the blue package you yourself buy—Lux is never sold in bulk.

WOMEN EVERYWHERE use Lux for silk stockings, as do the wardrobe mistresses of Broadway. Women know rubbing with cake soap may fade lovely colors—that many soaps (whether flakes, chips or cakes) contain harmful alkali that weakens fibres. So they make sure of extra wear—with Lux.

PAY ADLER AND TED BRADFORD

No hosiery gets harder wear than the stockings danced in night after night—yet every musical show doubles the life of its stockings, saves money, by cleansing with safe, pure Lux.

CREDIT BUREAU INSTALLS FIVE TRUNK LINES

With installation this week of five trunk lines and seven stations, the Santa Ana Business Men's association has assumed rank second to the court house in the point of telephone "consumers," according to a declaration today by Earl Ruddy, secretary and manager.

The number of the organization is now 4000, and parties desiring connection with any department may call this number and ask for the department wanted, Ruddy pointed out.

"We have used every type of service the company has introduced in the period of its development and we now have adopted the central switchboard service," the secretary said, in indicating the growth of the organization he represents.

The five trunk lines were kept busy yesterday and today, according to the secretary, who declared that installation of the switchboard had greatly facilitated matters in his office, making it possible for better and quicker dispatching of business and elimination to some extent of the report that "line is busy" when persons having business with the association call the office.

Pointing out that the organization now has three persons employed exclusively on credit information, Ruddy said that headquarters now has six rooms containing 1136 square feet of floor space. The organization has 206 members.

JUDGE REFUSES DIVORCE WHEN CHILDREN TALK

Superior Judge E. J. Marks refused to grant a divorce yesterday to Marcus W. Wright, of Orange, when witnesses, including his grown children, refuted his allegations regarding the conduct of his wife, Josephine Wright.

Property, valued at several figures, from $65,000 to several hundred thousand dollars, was involved in the case. Wright claimed to have made a property settlement with his wife in 1926, whereby she was to receive $50,000, which, it was asserted, was over half of the estate.

Desertion, nagging and interference with his business deals were the chief accusations made by him in his complaint and in an amended complaint. But the court failed to discover corroboration for the allegations when the case was tried.

Wright is said to be living with a son in Orange, while Mrs. Wright is reported to be making her residence in a house next door with a daughter. The couple were married in 1901 and the separation is said to have occurred in 1922. Other witnesses placed the date in 1925.

Sturdevant, playing for Mrs. A. L. Anderson, Mrs. A. M. Christensen and Mrs. Herbert Sullivan.

The dance of the Placentia Legion post, in Baxter hall, was a decided success. The women's auxiliary, organized last Friday, realized a tidy sum from the dance.

Mrs. E. K. Kirby was hostess Monday to the members of the X. Y. Z. club, who enjoyed their usual table of bridge. Mrs. Clarence Halber, substituting for Mrs. H. O. Warton, was awarded first prize and Mrs. S. Newnes, second. The tables were completed by Mrs. E. A. Eisenacher, Mrs. J. R. Wallace, Mrs. J. W. Bennie, Mrs. A. J. Barnhart and Mrs. Elmer Hochstein and the hostess.

FINLEY CLAIMS GOV. AL SMITH WET ADVOCATE

Because the chief issue of the presidential campaign is and will be the prohibition question, regardless of what prejudiced speakers declare, the duty of "dry" Democrats in California is to cast their votes for Senator Thomas J. Walsh, Montana, on May 1, according to a statement made today by Col. S. H. Finley, Orange county supervisor, and a lifelong Democrat.

"Mrs. Nellie Ross, in her speech here several days ago, while disclaiming to do so, really did make a wet and dry contest of the present primary campaign so far as the Democratic contest is concerned," Col. Finley said.

"Her main reason for supporting Gov. Al Smith seemed to be that he could get enough Republican votes to elect him. Granted that should be the case, what class of voters would they be that would elect him? Without question it would be the wet element of that party and the Democrats who would vote for him because he was their party candidate," he said.

"Being elected then largely by the wet portion of both parties, what attitude could he honorably take in reference to the 18th amendment and the Volstead act? It could hardly be expected to be other than that of encouraging the repeal of the Volstead act."

"Orange county is predominantly dry and the Democrats of the county are predominantly dry. They have an opportunity to vote for a candidate who believes as they do on the temperance question and at the same time is a member of their party."

"The official acts and the personal conduct of Senator Walsh have been four square on this vital question and there is no doubt but that his influence would be thrown towards the enforcement of the Volstead act and maintaining the 18th amendment as part of the constitution."

"It seems to me that the duty of the Democrats, who believe in these enactments, is clear."

"The wet and dry question is the issue in the Democratic primary of California on May 1. Should Governor Smith secure the Democratic nomination, that question will be the issue in the November general election because the Republican party will undoubtedly nominate a candidate who has at least supported the 18th amendment while it has been a part of the constitution," Col. Finley said.

SEVENTY BUSINESS MEN OF SANTA ANA HOLD WOMANLESS WEDDING ON EBELL STAGE

Last night in the presence of more than 500 relatives and friends, who attended the "Womanless Wedding" at the Ebell Club house, Miss Arebella Snodgrass (Charles Cotant), was united in the "bonds of wholly macaroni" to Mr. Guess Who, the mystery groom, who proved to be Roy C. Gwaltney of the West Coast-Walker theater.

The wedding ceremony came as the climax of an evening's entertainment which was most unique. It was hard to believe that 70 well known citizens of Santa Ana who posed in daily life as serious doctors, merchants, bankers and officials could carry out feminine and character impersonations so well that the actor's own families questioned their identity. Although there was not a woman on the stage, the impersonation of the fair sex was astonishingly successful.

The slogan of the show, "If you can't laugh, don't come" was put to test last night. From the time R. L. Bisby, the pompous butler made his first announcement till the closing chorus the audience roared with laughter. Folks wiped their eyes and held their sides. All the characters were good. Space, however, does not permit giving each one the mention he or she deserves.

Particularly funny, however, were Elmer Thompson as Ike Rosenstein, Chas. Mitchell as weep-imother, George J. Duncan and James Hughes as the bride's grandparents, Dr. Doty as Charles Chaplin, D. J. Marshall and Chief of Police Rogers as twin sisters, George Smith and Parke Roper as Mr. and Mrs. Montgomery Ward, E. Steffensen as the negro mammy and Mac Robbins and Sheriff Jernigan as flower girls.

Surprisingly true characterizations were those of Fred Rowland as Mary Pickford (?), J. G. Mitchell as Thomas Edison, Lester Steinkopf as Coolidge, J. E. W. Wisseman as John D. Rockefeller. All those participating are worthy of much praise for having performed so creditably. The final presentation of the wedding will be given tonight at Ebell at 8:30.

HEEMSTRA FUNERAL IS HELD HERE TODAY

Funeral services were held this afternoon at 2 o'clock at Winbigler's Mission Funeral home for John Heemstra, whose death occurred at his home on North Ross street. The services were in charge of the Rev. W. H. McPeck assisted by the Rev. Moffet Rhodes.

Mr. Heemstra was in his seventy-second year and was born in Michigan. Before coming to Santa Ana he lived in Iowa.

The golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Heemstra was celebrated in December last year.

The deceased is survived by his widow and six children, Charles, Benjamin, Frank, Miss Lydia (at home), Mrs. Edith Kuyper of Orange, and Jacob, who is professor of Bible in Central college, Pella, Iowa. He is also survived by two brothers, Rev. J. F. Heemstra, pastor of the Fourth Reformed Church of Holland, Michigan, and Albert Heemstra, residing at Orange City, Iowa; three sisters, Mrs. Jane Lubbers and Mrs. Lizzie Ver Berg of Orange City, Iowa, and Mrs. Reka Spindlers, of Doon, Iowa.

LEGION TO INITIATE 200 THIS EVENING

More than 200 members of the Santa Ana post, American Legion, are expected to be present at a special initiation service of the post to be held at the Legion's clubhouse on Birch street tonight.

Approximately 100 new members are to be taken into the organization and the initiation team of the Highland Park post will be present to render the services.

Entertainment from the West Coast Walker theater has been promised, including a number of Pancho and Marco specialty acts.

The meeting tonight is not a dinner affair and will start promptly at 8 o'clock.

Legion Official Speaks In Orange

ORANGE, April 26.—Ray Smith, of Anaheim, former commander of the American Legion post in that city, spoke to the members of the Lions' club on the subject of community development at the regular meeting here yesterday noon.

Smith emphasized child welfare and touched on the work of the Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts. H. O. Wallace, commander of the local post, was the program chairman and presented the harmonica band from the Legion Boy Scout troupe.

LOCAL PLAYERS PLAN TO QUIT STAGING PLAYS

When the Santa Ana Community Players introduce "The Youngest," a sparkling comedy, to the audience in the Temple theater tonight, they may be presenting their last production to drama fans in this city, Miss Norma Wingood, business manager, announced today.

"The board of governors have practically decided that a vacation will be declared for all next year, and perhaps longer," Miss Wingood said. "Besides seeing a remarkable play, every theater lover will want to see 'The Youngest' during its three night run because this may be the last chance to witness the Santa Ana Community Players in action."

"Last night's dress rehearsal showed all to be in readiness for a most successful play, and from the advance sale of tickets it is believed that the theater will have capacity houses for all three nights."

"Stella Jane Brubaker, director, has had an unusually strong cast to work with in staging 'The Youngest.' The players are putting their best foot forward, and from all indications this will be one of the best productions yet offered by our group during its eight years of successful operation."

Most of the cast are old favorites with Santa Ana audiences, nearly all being experienced and seasoned in stage work. Several of the present cast, including Emil Foust, Val Clark, Erny Davies, Harriet Enderle and Lois Cleland have been on the professional and

"There is another star performer, who has had no publicity at all as yet, but whose work is going to make a decided hit in this play, and that is Zip, a wire-haired Irish terrier of blue-blooded pedigree who will take the part of 'Forty' one of Richard Winslow's much maligned pets. Zip is new to Santa Ana audiences but his work shows he is going to carry off honors in this play." Tickets for "The Youngest" are on sale at the Santa Ana bookstore.

One Week's Use of Plain Old Fashioned Buttermilk Makes Amazing Improvement

It's a strange thing that now after years of being almost forgotten the simple old-fashioned recipe of buttermilk for beautifying the skin is again being turned to by the clever modern woman.

But it is easy to understand when you see the almost unbelievable improvement the use of buttermilk will make in your own skin and the short time it takes to smooth out the little harsh wrinkles, reduce enlarged pores and give your complexion a lustrous youthful firm look.

For convenience's sake Science has perfected a way of combining fresh concentrated buttermilk with a perfect cream which you can now get so that you can use it as a good drug under the name of Howard's Buttermilk Cream. Just one application of Howard's Buttermilk Cream will make your skin look better than it has for months—or your money will be refunded.—Adv.

SCHOOL BOARD DELAYS ACTION FOR BUILDING

Final action on the school building program for Santa Ana will await the outcome of the annexation election at Costa Mesa on May 22, the board of education decided last night.

The possible merging of this area with Santa Ana would have an effect on the legal status of the high school district, of which Costa Mesa is now a part, it was pointed out. If annexation carries, the final details of the building expansion project might have to be changed accordingly, board members said.

On the other hand, if the region to the south remains separate from the municipal confines of this city, the legal angle would be somewhat different, it was asserted.

Although a part of the Santa Ana high school district, Costa Mesa maintains its own elementary schools. If the community joined this city, the elementary institutions would pass under the jurisdiction of the board of education here, according to J. A. Cranston, superintendent of schools. This shift might necessitate changes in the building program which the board is now mapping out, he said.

The possibility of additional territory to the north of Santa Ana becoming a part of this city also resulted in deferring action last night. Results of the election held yesterday had not yet become known to the board officially. Enlargement of the city on the north would have an effect on the school situation, Cranston stated.

The board already has announced that plans have been made for erecting a new junior high school here to replace the present Frances Willard structure. Also it has included a four-year junior high school for Costa Mesa in its schedule.

SCOUT LEADER TALKS BEFORE KIWANIS CLUB

Two discredited members of the Santa Ana Kiwanis club were expelled yesterday at the meeting of the organization, through the instrumentality of Elmer E. Steffensen, program chairman. Steffensen created a near panic when he broached the subject of dismissal of members whom he declared to have made statements involving their membership that neither complemented the organization nor exemplified the ideals of the club.

In a serious tone of voice the chairman presented his charges against the two members, and as he approached the point of recalling the names of the delinquents protests were heard from all parts of the hall against the submission of the charges to an open meeting, appeals being made for submission of the charges to the grievance committee. Demands were made on Lieutenant Governor Frank Wright, of Whittier, who assumed the gavel temporarily, to quiet Steffensen and force him to take his seat. Over the shouts of protesters, the chairman proceeded with his pronouncement and when it was revealed that the charges were against members "Let George Do It" and "What's the Use," dismissal of the two was quickly approved, and Steffensen was complimented on his presentation of the subject.

The "stunt" followed addresses by Col. M. B. Wellington on Boy Scout work, and J. A. Cranston on school activities.

Wellington commented on the recent conference of the national organization at San Francisco, and pointed out some of the highlights of the meeting and special features of addresses by men prominent in the nation.

Commenting on the fact that there are more than a million Boy Scouts, with only 1000 paid executives, Wellington stressed the need of adult scoutmasters. He said there are 35,000 laymen working in the cause of boys' work as represented by the Scouts, giving their time and money to the advancement of the movement. Emphasis was given the point that directors of the national organization have gotten away from the idea of the creation of a large number of troops and are devoting themselves more to the maintenance of troops with quality membership and high class scoutmasters.

Wellington said that in the school for scoutmasters recently conducted here 60 of the 84 adults who started in the class completed the course. He asserted that each man who completed the course had benefitted immeasurably by the instruction.

Cranston explained the meaning of school week, by stating that the purpose is to get parents to visit the schools. Asserting that a great deal of misinformation about schools gets into public print, the head of the Santa Ana schools said it was the plan of the week to get parents into the schools so that they might have first hand observations as to their conduct. Recalling that some years ago it was the custom of parents to take a direct personal interest in the school work of their children by discussing with them their day's problems at school, and commenting on the fact that it formerly was also the custom for parents to read to children and children to read to their parents, the educator expressed doubt that much of such activity was taking place in the homes of today.

A. J. Garroway delighted the Kiwanians with a vocal selection, "Trees," a request number, accompanied by Miss Ruth Armstrong.

Dr. H. MacVicker Smith, president, and Steffensen were elected delegates to the convention of Kiwanis International at Seattle, and George R. Wells and C. E. Walker were named as alternates.

Police News

James Sherwood, 18, and Melvin Long, 19, Santa Ana youths, charged with petty theft, were given 60-day suspended sentences in Judge J. F. Talbot's court yesterday, on condition that they report to L. C. Rogers, once each week for eight weeks.

The boys were accused of stealing an automobile tire from an automobile parked on Kilson Drive Tuesday night.

Charged with turning his car around in the center of the street, G. A. Reed, Santa Ana, was fined $3 in police court yesterday.

Josephine Lenzinger and Charles W. Baker, Santa Ana, each were fined $2 in police court yesterday on a charge of overtime parking.

One man was fined and three youths were certified to the juvenile court in police court yesterday on speeding charges. Those transferred were Stephen B. Marvin, Eugene Wood, and Joe Castaneda. Richard Pearce was fined $15.

BUENA PARK

BUENA PARK, April 26.—The home of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Hagarty on Western avenue was the scene of a surprise party Tuesday night, the occasion being their 45th wedding anniversary. The Hagartys are among Buena Park's oldest settlers. Some 30 friends were present to extend their congratulations and present them with gifts. Delicious refreshments were served.

The Rev. Burton Y. Neal was one of the 300 ministers who attended the ministerial association meeting held in Los Angeles Monday.

James Sewell visited Miss Nina Norton in Banning Sunday. N. M. Lombard, of the California Fruit exchange, called on L. L. Stowe this week.

BOY SCOUTS TO SHOW SKILL AT BIG JAMBOREE

Among the many interesting stunts to be put on at the jamboree of the Boy Scouts this year to be held Friday evening, April 27th, at the Orange County Fair Grounds, is the Life Saving exhibition to be staged by the Newport troop under the leadership of A. J. Twist. This exhibition will show the actual use of flares, and a complete breeches buoy equipment, which is the property of the Newport troop and is held ready for instant use at Newport all through the year.

The plans that were completed at the final meeting of the jamboree last night under the leadership of Ted Craig, Gen. Chairman, indicate that at least 30 organizations from different parts of the county are going to participate in this year's affair by having all sorts of booths which will lend a carnival atmosphere to the affair at the conclusion of the Scout show.

The show itself will resemble a huge circus in that at no time during the evening will there be less than five exhibitions going on on the field which is to be fully lighted so that the entire demonstration can be seen from any of the grandstands.

There will be plenty of free parking space, well regulated, so that there will be little confusion in either getting in or getting out of the grounds this year.

Set Sizes Urged To Reduce Waste

NEW YORK, April 26.—A far reaching step toward gradual elimination of huge wastes in industry is announced by the American engineering standards committee, which recommended a scientific system of sizes in products in common use.

Some products, said the committee's report, are manufactured in thousands of sizes when comparatively few were necessary. The new system can be applied with saving to such varied commodities as bread and machinery, handbags and packing cases.

The new size system, known as "preferred numbers," would eliminate slight differences for which no need exists. As sizes become larger the difference between successive sizes would become greater. Sizes are increased by a fixed percentage under the system of preferred numbers. Thus, if six curtain rods from one foot to 10 feet in length, inclusive, are needed, the sizes would be 1, 1.6, 2.5, 4, 6 and 10 feet respectively, each being 60 per cent larger than the next smaller.

The same numbers could be used for still larger sizes. Thus, for rubber tubing the standard lengths might be 10, 16, 25, 40, 60 and 100 feet.

LOCAL COLLEGE TEACHERS WILL GO TO MEETING

The annual spring conference of Southern California junior colleges which will be held at the Citrus Junior college at Azusa Saturday will be attended by several teachers from the local college. They are D. K. Hammond, L. L. Beaman, C. Blascow, Miss Hazel Dawson, Miss Lillian Dickson, McKee Flak, T. H. Glenn, Miss Myrtle Miller, M. Newcomb, C. C. Stewart, Mrs. John Tesson, and Miss Mabel Whiting.

The forenoon conference will begin at 10 o'clock. It will be followed by a luncheon served by the home economics department of the Citrus Junior college. The afternoon session of the conference will adjourn about 3 o'clock.

It is expected that every junior college in the southland will be represented.

Parent-Teachers

Franklin

The Franklin P.T.A. met Tuesday afternoon in the kindergarten.

Miss Laughhead gave an interesting demonstration lesson in second grade arithmetic, followed by a demonstration by Miss McFarland in sixth grade arithmetic.

A short musical program was presented as follows:

Piano solo, "Melody of Love," Marie Steele; piano duet, "Josephine and Dorothy Stillwell; vocal solos, "Absent," "At Dawning," Mrs. Beard; piano solo, "The Meadow Lark," Katherine Fitzpatrick.

During the business session a report of work on the pre-school clinic was given by Mrs. Eklund.

More mothers were urged to take the opportunity afforded them for advice on the care of their babies.

The report of the nominating committee was unanimously accepted. The new officers were named as follows, president, Mrs. Hugh Neighbour; vice president, Mrs. Hewitt; secretary, Miss Tedrow; recording secretary, Mrs. Stewart; treasurer, Mrs. Stillwell; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Aulburn; historian, Miss Sweet; auditor, Mrs. Heinley.

Lincoln

An enjoyable P.T.A. meeting was held at Lincoln school Tuesday afternoon, April 19, Mrs. J. C. James, president, presiding.

The meeting opened with the singing of "America," followed by the flag salute.

Mrs. Albert Hill, chairman of the nominating committee reported and the following officers were elected:

President, Mrs. John C. James; vice president, Mrs. Earl Matthews; secretary, Mrs. Francis B. Hart; treasurer, Mrs. John Newcomer; parliamentarian, Mrs. Albert Hill, and historian, Mrs. W. H. Lowe.

At the roll call it was found that Mrs. Francis B. Hart's class had the most mothers present and will have the honor of having the large flag in its room this month.

The girls of the one A class sang several songs and Miss Helen Tannenbaum, one of Lincoln's talented musicians, played two violin numbers.

Mrs. G. C. Troy, safety chairman of Fourth District, spent the entire day at the school. During the morning she gave interesting demonstrations to the classes with a chart showing and demonstrating actual traffic conditions using miniature models of automobiles and pedestrians which proved very beneficial to the children. At the afternoon meeting she talked to the mothers.

Mr. Peterkin, state traffic officer, and Mrs. Raymond, of the fire department, were introduced by Mrs. Troy and both gave interesting talks. Mr. Peterkin outlined the laws which an automobile operator is expected to follow, while Mr. Raymond in his talk urged upon us to always give the street number and nearest intersection when turning in a fire call, also explaining how to send in an alarm from the box.

Mary Lowell played several piano numbers while refreshments were being served and the meeting adjourned to meet again in May.

Edison

Edison P.T.A. met Tuesday. The main feature of the program was an instructive address by Judge Kenneth Morrison. A "Safety First" play was given by pupils of the school.

At the business meeting the following officers were elected for the coming year:

President, Mrs. Knight; vice president, Mrs. Ames; secretary, Miss Miller; treasurer, Mrs. Boyd; historian, Mrs. Nordstrom; parliamentarian, Mrs. Gutzman; auditor, Mrs. Alma Mitchell.

After the election refreshments were served and a general social time enjoyed.

Eighth graders, Gene Thompson, Irma Leigh Fernandez, and Kenneth Georgeson.

Seventh graders, Eva Dunn, Elizabeth Thompson, Weston Sprague.

Typing Awards
Jennie Popesil, ninth grader, was awarded a bronze expert typist pin recently for passing an Underwood typewriting test making 45 words per minute for 15 minutes.

Eva Wright, ninth grader, was presented the same award for making 41 words per minute.

Many pupils in the typing department have been given certificates of proficiency for passing the 30-word per minute test and are now looking forward to winning a bronze pin. Those who have won bronze pins are working diligently to win a silver pin and then a gold pin in the speed tests before the end of this school term.

Service Club
Mr. Kellogg was most pleasantly surprised Tuesday when the boys of the Willard service club welcomed him at their regular luncheon with a shower of birthday greetings. Mr. Kellogg thought the day would pass without anyone knowing about the event, but the boys found it out and celebrated the occasion in fine style.

A delightful program was given in his honor including the following numbers: a solo by Cloy Francis, accompanied by Hubert Dale, and a piano solo. Miss Grace Smiley was the guest of honor and she presented Mr. Kellogg with a beautiful glass rose bowl, on behalf of the boys. An elaborate birthday cake gave special emphasis to the happy occasion.

Art Exhibit
The Colonial Art company is putting on an exhibit of its pictures in the Washington building during this entire week. The exhibit contains about 150 fine art masterpieces representing the Italian, French, Flemish, English, Dutch, Spanish, German and American schools.

Every pupil in school should know and enjoy good pictures, and should use this opportunity for increasing his knowledge and interest along this line. Each class is scheduled for a definite period when the pictures can be studied and observed carefully.

Tickets for admission into the exhibit cost ten cents and all the money that is raised will be put into the Public School Picture Fund, which means that Willard will purchase as many of these fine pictures as possible. For this splendid purpose, which means pleasure as well as considerable information, it is hoped that many outsiders will also take advantage of this opportunity to see the Colonial Art Exhibit. The public is invited to come anytime this week.

"Better Halves" Entertainment
The "better-halves" of the Willard faculty entertained the teachers and the executive board of the P.T.A. last Saturday at a most delightful party at the San Clemente club house. The afternoon was spent in strolling about the beach, swimming, cards and dancing. At 6 o'clock all assembled in the beautiful club house dining room where an appetizing dinner was served. After dinner cards and dancing were resumed.

Mrs. C. D. Chamberlin and Mrs. C. J. Smith had charge of this fine party and they were assisted by Mrs. Will S. Kellogg, Mrs. Harry Jackson, Mrs. Robert Horn, Mrs. Harold Braacwell, Mr. "Tex" Oliver, and Mr. Horace Scott.

Welfare Club
A meeting was held Wednesday of the Willard Welfare club. The girls enjoyed a lovely luncheon and then they had some parliamentary law drill. Thelma Johnson was called to preside at the meeting and an interesting time was had in conducting an imaginary trip.

Wilma Watts of Los Alamitos, who is visiting Mary Jane Dodd was the guest of honor last week.

Social Law Club
A monthly meeting of the Social Law club was held on Thursday, April 12, at the home of George Munroe. A picnic was planned during the business meeting and it was decided that both Social Law clubs would have a picnic at Orange County park for the next meeting. Martha Wallingford and Guy Purinton were appointed on the refreshment committee to plan for the picnic. Elaborate plans will be made for this gathering as this will be the last meeting when all the present members will be together.

Class Gives Program
The 4J class, under the direction of Mr. Chamberlin, gave an interesting and varied program last Friday during the regular student assembly period. Dora Perkins was the announcer of the events. The first number on the program was a song by three boys of the class, Tom Griffith, Fred Garland, and Mario Mercurio. They were accompanied by Miss Davis. The next on the program was a song, "Hark, Hark, the Lark," sung by the eighth and ninth grade girls glee clubs. They were accompanied by Lillian Hurwitz. They sang an encore number which was equally appreciated and Dorothy Dula played the accompaniment.

Following the program the yell leaders led the student body in enthusiastic cheers for Mr. Chamberlin and the 4J class.

EDISON

At the assembly in the patio Friday morning, a "Safety First" program was given for the instruction of the pupils.

Darrel Morten won a place on the team at the oral spelling contest, which was held at Spurgeon school, Thursday. The team of four boys will have a contest with teams from the other city districts, soon.

Bank Deposits

Mrs. Maxwell, principal, has posted in the corridor a graph which shows the percentage of bank deposits by the various grades, each week. This has created much interest in the savings plan. Pupils are depositing with regularity, and new accounts are being opened, each week.

Wine Prize

In the recent W. C. T. U. essay contest, Jean Mulbar, H 5, won first prize for fifth grade pupils in the city schools. Local prizes of one dollar each were presented to Kenneth Nelson, High 6 grade, and to Raymond Nordstrom, H four grade.

Much interest was shown in the city beautiful campaign. Teachers and pupils worked hard to make Edison's part in the parade, a success. In the essay contest, the blue ribbon was won by Eldon Murray, H 5 grade, and the red ribbon by Charles Maxwell, L 5 grade.

School Fair

Preparations are being made for a school fair to be held May 18. All departments of school work will be represented.

The girls' basketball team played an exciting game with the Spurgeon team Friday afternoon. The game resulted in a tie, 16 to 16. This was played off, and resulted in a score of 20 to 18, in Edison's favor. Edison's team has the following members: Eda Harkoff, captain, Carmen Muniz, Selma Allred, Helen Mercer, Margaret Frank, Maxine Frank, Elvia Worden, Margaret Brugger, Katy Dahm, Avona Jones, Jean Mulbar, Pauline Eloit, Bessie Kinney.

WILL EXAMINE SCHOOL PUPILS FREE OF COST

BY MRS. NEAL BEISEL
Fourth District P.-T. A. Press
Chairman

Educational authorities say that at least 20 to 30 per cent of the school children of the United States repeat one or more of the early grades. Since it costs $72 to $80 a year to educate a child in the public schools, the terrific waste of money is apparent. Since most of these school failures are without doubt due to poor physical condition it is the best sort of economy to prepare the child physically for the education which the state provides.

It is for those children who may be deficient physically that the parent-teacher associations and the bureau of child hygiene of the California state department of public health are providing a summer round-up, in which physical examinations will be provided free of cost. These organizations believe that it is not fair to the child, nor to the school, to permit their entrance to school life when they are physically handicapped. If any physical handicaps that may exist are discovered now, and corrected before school opens in the fall, the greatest possible service will be rendered to the child and to the state as well.

Dr. K. H. Sutherland, head of the county health department and county chairman of child hygiene for the Fourth District, Congress of Parents and Teachers, is in charge of the examinations which will be given free of cost. Dr. Sutherland will be assisted by public health nurses, and by Mrs. Fay Spangler, county chairman of the summer round-up for the parent-teacher associations, who will aid in furnishing the secretarial assistance necessary at the examinations.

This is the fourth year that the summer round-up has been successfully conducted in Santa Ana and the towns of Orange county. Beneficial results are becoming apparent in the lower grade schools and parents are enthusiastic in their support of the campaign. A complete schedule of localities and dates for examinations, beginning May 1 will be printed in the Register Saturday.

How One Thin Woman Gained 11 Pounds

Read This Letter

This is from Mrs. W. E. Looney—Just must tell you that McCoy's Tablets are the finest things I have ever tried. I have always been thin and never found anything to do me so much good. I was disappointed in the beginning.

I weighed 104 when I began—now I weigh 115½. I praise them. I can't be without them. My limbs are picking up fine. I am singing their praises to everyone I see. I didn't have any faith in them to start.

Signed (Mrs. W. E. Looney) Tenn.

McCoy takes all the risk—Read this ironclad guarantee. If after taking 4 sixty cent boxes of McCoy's Tablets or 2 One Dollar boxes any thin, underweight man or woman doesn't gain at least 5 pounds and feel completely satisfied with the marked improvement in health—your druggist is authorized to return the purchase price.

The name McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets has been shortened—just ask for McCoy's Tablets at all druggists or any drug store in America.

SANTA ANA, PASADENA CLASH TOMORROW

PICK GLENDALE TO WIN TRACK CHAMPIONSHIP

Dopester Fears Santa Ana Can Get No Better Than Close Fourth Saturday

GUESSING 'EM
Glendale 25, Los Angeles 20, Long Beach 17, Santa Ana 14, San Diego 9, Los Angeles Poly 7, Redlands 6, Pomona 5, Inglewood 5, Woodrow Wilson 5, Compton 5, Roosevelt 5, Jefferson 3, Pasadena 3, Puente 3, Huntington Park 3, Hollywood 2, Fairfax 2, San Luis Obispo 2, San Bernardino 1, Santa Barbara 1.

At the risk of being chaperoned out of town on a rustic two-by-four, the writer, known as Gridiron, in his palmer days, today has the temerity to rank Glendale, the probable winner of the Southern California Interscholastic track and field meet in the Los Angeles Coliseum Saturday.

Los Angeles high school will be second, he believes, and Long Beach third.

After considerable mathematical deductions, Dopester, to be truthful, fears he cannot place his first love, Santa Ana high school, better than fourth although he thinks "Tex" Oliver's athletes will be well up in the totals.

San Diego probably will follow Santa Ana and Redlands be back of Santa Ana.

The critics are picking Lombardi, of Los Angeles, to defeat Frank Wykoff, the Glendale phenom, in the sprint, but Dopester is confident "Flying Frank" will be there first at the tape although the 220, in which Wykoff's finish is none too strong, will be close.

Santa Ana has a good chance for two first places, by Captain John Moffat in the 120 yard high hurdles and by Ernie Velarde in the broad jump. They both have the class to win, if they are right. Velarde has never defeated Wykoff in a final event, however, and the dope favors the Glendale star.

Youngster who shatters dope with reckless abandon and if he comes through with one of his long jumps he may do a lot toward deciding the championship.

Dopester's "predictions" follow:

880-Yards (Los Angeles), Jones (San Diego), Moulder (Glendale), Oberholser (Long Beach), Lombardi (Los Angeles), Kilfoil (L.A. TROY GRIDDER'S SCRIMMAGE IN SPRING DRILL

LOS ANGELES, April 26.—One hard scrimmage a week is on schedule for the University of Southern California spring grid-ders. Coach Howard Jones sent his charges through their first scrimmage Thursday, and has another planned for Friday of this week.

Jones' first string lineup consisted of Tappan and Wilcox, ends; Hibbs and Anthony, tackles; Galloway and Boren, ends; Barrager, center; Saunders, quarterback; Thomas and Edelson, half-backs; and Jim Snider and Bert Ritchey, alternating at fullback.

With the exception of the full-backs, every man on the squad is a veteran from last year's team. Jones has shifted some men around a bit. Anthony has been made over from a guard to tackle; Boren has been brought in from end to running guard; Saunders has gone from halfback to quarter; and Edelson from full to half.

Ritchey will be a sophomore next year. He did not play freshman football. He is a big, 190-pound colored athlete, who was All-State halfback two years ago and won the high hurdles in the state finals in 14-4-5 seconds. He hails from San Diego high school.

MEMBERS OF FAMILY FORM BASEBALL TEAM

How would you like to keep a box score in a game where nine brothers were playing on one side? The Simon family of Topeka, Kas., not only has a full baseball team but a tenth brother to act as a substitute and pinchhitter and the boys have what they claim to be the only baseball team in the world composed entirely of brothers. They have an affidavit to prove it. In the picture above, left to right, they are: Back row, John, Floyd, Jake, Bart and Roy; front row, Ed, Clyde, Glen, Nile and Ted.

SPORTSMATTER

BY FRANK GETTY
UNITED PRESS SPORTS EDITOR

The eyes of the athletic world are turned towards Franklin Field, Philadelphia, where tomorrow and Saturday many of this country's foremost track and field performers will make their initial bid for a ride to Amsterdam.

The Penn Relay Carnival has drawn the pick of the nation's college athletes, although the Drake Relay games will witness some stirring competition among stars of the Middle West.

Among those who performances will be followed with keen interest is Charley Paddock, once—and possibly still—the "Fastest Human." The popular Californian is a veteran of two previous Olympiads, and is looking forward to his third.

At Antwerp, in 1920, Paddock's sprinting was the sensation of the Olympic Games. He won the 100-metres championship that year, his only Olympic title, and was a member of winning relay teams there and at Paris four years later.

Charley is down for a special 175-yard dash in the carnival at Franklin field. Paddock still retains his predilection for distances no one else has thought of. In this way, he holds a number of "trick" championships and at the same time avoids a fair test of his powers at standard distances. This was all very well when Charley was the best of American sprinters beyond dispute. He still may be the best, but there are many to dispute with him along the cinders.

It is in the sprints that the United States has ruled supreme in Olympic contests over a period of more than 30 years.

T. E. Burke, whose name means little to track and field fans of 1928, was our first Olympic champion, back in 1896, when the games were revived after a lapse of 15 centuries. Burke won the 100 metres and 400 metres events at Athens. They had no 200 metres run that year.

Jarvis, Tawksbury, and Long were America's successful sprinters in the games at Paris in 1900, accounting for the 100, 200 and 400 metres runs respectively.

The following Olympiad, at St. Louis in 1904, Archie Hahn won both the 100 and 200 metres and Harry Hillman, now a famous coach, the 400 metres. The Olympic scene reverted to Athens in 1906, with Hahn and Paul Pilgrim cleaning up in the sprints.

It was not until 1908, when London played host at the fourth modern Olympiad, that the reign of American sprinters was temporarily interrupted. The details are obscure, but for some reason or other, not of American broke the tape in any of the sprints. R. E. Walker, South Africa, won the 100 metres championship, R. Kerr of Canada the 200, while W. Halswelle of Great Britain was adjudged the winner of the 400 metres run, no one appearing to oppose him in the final heat, the first example of a "walk-over" in connection with the Olympic games.

R. C. Craig was running for the United States at Stockholm in 1912, so there's no need to ask who won the 100 and 200 metres. Charley Reidpath accounted for the 400 metres run that year.

The Olympic games then were interrupted by the World war, since which our Olympic sprint champions have been Paddock, Allan Woodring, and Jackson V. Scholz.

DEMPSEY WINS LEGAL BATTLE FROM KEARNS

BY GEORGE H. KIRKSEY
(Consolidated Press Correspondent)

NEW YORK, April 26.—Jack Dempsey doesn't owe Jack Kearns, former pal and manager, anything, a jury in federal court has ruled. Thus the breach of contract suit which Kearns instituted against Dempsey in chancery court at Atlantic City September 18, 1926, and which developed into the most famous legal battle in boxing history, was terminated with Dempsey the winner.

The sum Kearns sought was at varying times $333,333.33, $701,026, $534,360 and finally $83,333.33. Actually, Kearns' suit was for one-third of Dempsey's share in the proposed Dempsey-Willis bout, one-third of Dempsey's $450,000 purse from the first Tunney bout, and one-third of the moneys realized by Dempsey from exhibitions.

After four-and-a-half hours of deliberation the jury returned a verdict answering two questions put to it by Judge John C. Knox, yesterday.

This decision was that of the contract signed between Dempsey and Kearns at Saratoga Springs in August, 1923, was a valid contract; but that the life of the contract was terminated in July, 1925, by mutual consent.

Dempsey today once again was his old, carefree self. "I'm glad to get this thing settled," Dempsey said.

BILLINGS LOOMS AS REAL MOUND "FIND"

of young Billings and the veteran Dubuc. And it is only proper that the resemblance should be most striking, since it was Dubuc, as coach at Brown university, who instructed Billings in the art of pitching.

When Dubuc, who acts as scout for the team on which he once starred, sent Billings to the Tigers, he expressed the belief that the youngster was capable of making the grade without any minor league experience.

Puts Him to Test

Taking Dubuc at his word, Manager Moriarty put Billings to the acid test a few days after his arrival in Detroit. He beat Boston. A lot of pitchers have done that so his win over the lowly tallenders caused no undue amount of excitement. However, when he scored a victory over Washington his second time out, despite the fact he was in hot water most of the game, the critics began to perk up and take notice of the young collegian.

In the two months that he spent in the club prior to the close of the season, Billings didn't turn in a single poor exhibition of pitching. In a majority of the defeats charged against him, faulty fielding rather than weak pitching was the cause.

Billings is a right hander. While not very tall—he lacks perhaps three inches of being a six-footer—he is of stocky build and has a fine pair of shoulders. He has good speed and a deceptive delivery; his fast ball seems to sneak on the batter. He keeps his fast ball low, and mixes in a fast breaking curve and a good change of pace.

A tendency to be wild has somewhat handicapped Billings but his control has shown constant improvement.

FIRST HOMER OF SEASON

It didn't take Lou Gehrig long to get started with home runs this year. He hit one the second game of the year. Whether he beats Babe Ruth or not this season, he always can say that he got one in a scheduled game ahead of the Babe.

SMELTZER

SMELTZER, April 26.—Two birthday anniversary events were celebrated the first of the week in the J. A. Murdy family and a dinner was given for each of the honorees, Mrs. J. A. Murdy and her grandson, Melvin Burns.

Melvin Burns, of Los Angeles, was a Sunday visitor in his grandparents' home and the date being his 21st anniversary, he was honored guest at a dinner at which those present included Mr. and Mrs. George McGirk and their two children, Dee and Hene McGirk, of Long Beach; Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Murdy and Miss Ella Murdy and Arthur Murdy.

Monday was Mrs. J. A. Murdy's anniversary and her daughter, Mrs. Eva Beam, gave a dinner party, the chicken dinner being served to a party of eight, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Murdy and three South Dakota friends, Mrs. Mae Hawkins, Mrs. Stella Solomonson and Mrs. Christina Mattoon, of Long Beach, and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Beam and their daughter. In the evening Mrs. Murdy's son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Murdy and their family, of Los Angeles, came down for the evening, bringing Mrs. Murdy an anniversary cake. Many lovely gifts were received by Mrs. Murdy.

Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Taylor, of San Jacinto, have been spending several days as house guests of Mrs. Taylor's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Lewis. Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Hell entertained as evening guests, Mr. and Mrs. Lockley Livernash, of Los Angeles. Mr. Livernash, who is a graduate of the Huntington Beach high school, is an instructor in athletics and music in one of the schools of Los Angeles.

looking for the right kind of owner

The Flying Cloud Coupe in the picture is afraid that it may be unhappy.

It might get an owner that would not be just the right kind.

Not that this Flying Cloud is conceited. But it knows how good it is. It knows that it can show even the twenty thousand dollar kind a few things about going from here to there in this country.

So it wants an owner that will let it step out once in a while.

There's a figure on the speedometer dial quite a ways above seventy that this

Flying Cloud likes to flirt with now and then.

It wants an owner that likes to go places, with smart people, and get there a little bit ahead of the rest.

Now and then this Flying Cloud enjoys loitering down a side road bathed in summer's smiles.

A high hill just makes it chuckle, and it's still looking for a mountain that it can really call a hill.

It doesn't much care whether it's on pavements or in ruts, whether the road is dry or slippery.

In fact, it wants the right kind of owner. One who gets a lot of fun out of traveling and will know it when he drives a car that feels the same way.

Perhaps you're the right kind of owner for this car.

If so, you'll know it the minute you try it out. The more miles you cover, the more sure you'll be that this REO Flying Cloud of 1929 is your car.

But you'll have to get acquainted to find out. So we're inviting you to come down today, just to see if you're the kind of owner this Flying Cloud wants.

SPACE IN BIG RANCHER GIVES VALENCIA SHOW IS AT PREMIUM POLY SENIOR BOYS ADVICE

ANAHEIM, April 26.—Increased interest in the California Valencia Orange Show, to be held at Anaheim from May 24 to June 3, is indicated by the report to the directors of George W. Reid, manager, that practically all space in the feature exhibit tent has been reserved and nearly 100 of the 144 exhibit booths in the industrial section have been assigned. Although additional space has been provided for this year's Valencia show, indications are that applications will exceed the number of booths available, Manager Reid said.

Cities which have concluded arrangements for space in the feature exhibit tent include San Diego, Long Beach, Los Angeles, Fullerton, Pomona, Anaheim and the Citrus Exchange. Several other applications for space in the feature exhibit tent are in the hands of the directors, who are experiencing some difficulty in apportioning the remaining space. Los Angeles county, whose exhibit last year won the sweepstakes prize for county exhibits, is planning another elaborate exhibit this year. All spaces in the feature tent have been enlarged over previous years, some of them occupying 200 square feet.

Carrying out plans for a radio department, an innovation this year, the directors have appointed C. B. Goodson of Anaheim to have charge of arrangements for this feature. An entire section of the main auditorium has been reserved for radio exhibits.

"The usual last ten days' rush of prospective exhibitors seeking to reserve space is definitely under way a month before the opening date," said Mr. Reid. "The Valencia show, now in its eighth year, has grown to be the principal mid-year exposition in Southern California and is attracting nationwide attention."

SPEAKERS UNHEALTHY

Dr. W. C. Hassler, city health officer of San Francisco, has asked the Board of Supervisors to ban loud speakers used by local advertisers. "The noise and squawking, continued over a period of time, is a menace to the health of individuals who are compelled to endure this irritation to their nervous system," he says.

To be a success in agriculture nowadays a boy cannot quit school when he is in the seventh grade and go to work on a ranch for his experience, according to Ross Shafer of Tustin, well known orange rancher. Shafer addressed the boys of the senior class of the Santa Ana high school.

Today a high school education is necessary and a college education at a good agricultural school is good, Shafer said.

The nature of the work includes tilling the soil, herding cattle, irrigation, entomology, teaching ability, and orchardist. The advantages include the many excellent government experiment schools from where courses and magazines are sent to farmers and ranchers throughout the United States.

It is necessary to have a love of the work as well as the ability to sacrifice and the ever needed capital. A rancher must be willing to take up new ideas, know how to co-operate, have a good head, and a certain amount of business ability.

The highest income apt to be received by a rancher is $95,000, Shafer said. He pointed out that it is seldom that as large a wage as the one mentioned is received.

Although there is opportunity for a well-qualified person and there is not a long starvation period, the field is crowded and the competition keen, the speaker remarked.

KIWANIS HEAD LAUDS WORK OF SERVICE CLUBS

NEWPORT BEACH, April 26.—"The creation of manpower willing to assume civic responsibility is the greatest work of service clubs," W. O. Harris, governor of Kiwanis clubs in California and Nevada, told members of the Exchange club here yesterday. Harris explained that the foundation of all service clubs was laid by preparing men for community service that the clubs were of value to a community. The power of the clubs as expressed in their unity of force was told by the speaker, who pointed out the moral and educational welfare which is sponsored by the various luncheon organizations.

The business men form the backbone of the service clubs and the business men are the ones who put things across, Harris declared. He told of the work of Kiwanis clubs and declared that one club in his district has a perfect attendance record for 48 weeks to its credit. There are more than 400,000 business men in the United States belonging to service clubs, the speaker pointed out. He declared that more than $45,000,000 per year was spent by the clubs for various purposes.

Harris, a resident of Riverside, spends much of his time in Newport Beach, owning a home in the Balboa section of the city. The meeting yesterday was held at the Southern Seas club. Arrangements have been made to continue the meetings there, it was announced.

The resignation of J. A. Winn, former chief of police here, was presented at the meeting. Winn is moving from the city.

E. B. "Dick" Whitson, chairman of the committee in charge of the local delegation of Exchange to the state convention at Fresno next week reported that nine members of the club had signed up to attend the convention. L. L. Isbell, vice president of the club, will be in charge of the meeting here next week in the absence of Eugene Fenelon, president, who will be at the convention.

Harry B. Tudor, of Balboa, contributed liberally to the "good luck" fund of the club yesterday, when he declared that joining the club had caused him to get over "stage fright."

"When I joined this club I could not talk to more than two or three men without getting embarrassed, but now, thanks to the club work, I can get up and tell you all just what I think," Tudor declared.

The Rev. W. H. Stockton introduced the speaker of the day. Reports of committees were given. A. J. Twist, local scoutmaster, announced the Boy Scout jamboree to be held at the Orange County Fair grounds Friday night.

Walnut Catkins In County Late; Payment Is Made

ORANGE, April 26.—Predictions for the walnut crop of 1928 cannot be made for a period of about 10 days, according to A. J. Smiley, manager of the Richland walnut house here. Predictions of the crop are based on the catkins and to date the catkins in Orange county groves have been unusually coy in appearing and are now from 10 days to two weeks overdue, Smiley says.

Present appearances of walnuts in Ventura, Riverside and Los Angeles counties point to a very good crop for this year, Smiley declared.

Payments have been made on the 1927 culls during the past 10 days at the Richland house and another five per cent on the regular crop will be paid this week, Smiley said.

BOULDER DAM NEED TO OLD IN CHAMBER TALK

PLACENTIA, April 26.—Among other guests of the chamber of commerce was H. L. Brownfield, presented by the chairman, H. S. Bradford. Brownfield, formerly chamber of commerce, and in response to the introduction, remarked that all of the nation had its eyes on California. One middle western state has organized, according to Brownfield, to keep people and money from coming west.

Tom Taylor, recently advanced from the local branch of the Bank of Italy to the Fullerton bank, was present to introduce his successor here, M. Everett. Everett came from the position of assistant manager of the Anaheim branch of the Bank of Italy.

J. W. Bennie reported that the merchants' division was investigating the postal delivery question. M. L. Pickett read a communication from the postmaster that the salary of a postman would be higher than first reported.

There was also a communication read from the state park commission, asking the chamber to aid in spreading propaganda to secure the ratification of the state park bonds to be voted on in November.

The principal speaker of the day was John W. Scott, of the Boulder Dam Association. According to Scott, the Boulder Dam association was formed in Fullerton six years ago. The purpose is to aid passage of the bill that will provide for a government dam and use the Colorado river water to develop the American desert into fruitful farms, he said.

His arguments in favor of the government dam were terse and pointed. Besides allowing the development of thousands of acres of land, the dam would protect the valley from floods, and supply the coastal plains with domestic water, he said. Since it is water that makes arid land valuable, it behooves those in the southwest to conserve the supply, according to Scott.

H. H. Hale, president of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Orange county, and Scott urged that all who could attend the meeting of the associated chambers in La Habra tonight at the Woman's club house. H. A. Evans will exhibit moving pictures of the Colorado river proposition.

New officers will be elected at that time.

Mrs. C. W. Brooks, president of the league, was hostess to the other officers. A light luncheon was served after which the women discussed various business measures to be taken up by the league.

400 ATTEND DINNER IN MEMORIAL HALL

ORANGE, April 26.—The first anniversary of the dedication of the Walker Memorial hall was celebrated by a banquet this week at which nearly 400 were served. The hall is the recreation building of the St. John's Lutheran church and was built as a memorial to Charles E. Walker by his wife, now Mrs. John O. King.

The Martha society served the three-course banquet. The Rev. A. C. Bode, pastor of the church, gave an interesting talk, touching briefly on the history of the building.

One of the tables was reserved for Miss Lydia Walker, whose 15th birthday fell on this day. The table was centered by a huge birthday cake and 17 girl friends and Mr. and Mrs. John O. King shared the table with Miss Lydia.

During the evening a life size bronze bust of Charles E. Walker, which had been placed in the lobby, was unveiled by his daughter, Miss Malinda Walker. The lobby, banquet rooms and stage were decorated with sweet peas, baskets of lilies, snapdragon and stock.

The following program was given: Piano solo, Miss Harrietta Blank; reading, Miss Eugenia Bode; violin solo, Oswald Ulrich, accompanied by Miss Margaret Losher; song, women's chorus; guitar trio, Miss Lorella Bandick; Miss Esther Bandick and Miss Ellen Heldicke; songs, men's chorus.

ZONE CHANGES AUTHORIZED BY LAGUNA BOARD

LAGUNA BEACH, April 26.—Permission to the American Legion to hold a street fair on the first block of Forest Avenue when the street is completed, refusal to grant temporary building permits, adding to the exemptions from zone A and placing the property in zone B and consideration of minor matters consumed the time of the city council last night.

The decision to grant no temporary building permits followed the precedent set by the former council.

Three separate petitions regarding property now in zone A came before the council. The first of these was a block from Cypress to Beach street. The second was a block from the previous council, and added three more blocks to the first petition. The third was for a change on the western end of the original zone A, which would take a portion of block 6 between Aster and Cypress from the business zone and place it in the residence zone. The attorney was instructed to draw the amendment.

City Attorney Vernon W. Hunt asked that the council appoint a planning committee which would go more thoroughly into zoning and other civic matters and make recommendations to the council. The proposal was not received with enthusiasm by the council, and was opposed by a real estate man present, who thought that it might result in paying salaries to expert city planners instead of using this money on the streets. Members of the council concurred in this view.

Mr. Hunt explained that he did not mean that experts need be hired, but that a committee could go more exhaustively into the matter. He insisted on methods being used at Newport Beach.

The vacation of an alley between Brooks and Cross streets, on the ocean front, held to be impracticable, was deferred indefinitely. The matter had been before the previous council. Question of an exchange of lands which would not put through an alley which could be used was left for further investigation.

Whether business licenses should be payable on the first of the year, and enterprises started later in the year should be required to pay for the unexpired portion of the year, or for a full term was discussed at length. The clerk had been instructed by the previous council, in deference to the wishes of the merchants, to require all licenses to be paid in full. Attorney Hunt was instructed to draw a provision for the ordinance which would definitely stipulate that a full license must be paid in advance, but that the amount covering the portion of the year already expired should be applied on January 1 to the payment of the subsequent year's license fee.

Foster Elliott wanted to know what had been done regarding the county park within city limits, which borders the ocean front. He was told that Councilman William W. Riddell and Mayor Frank E. Champion would go before the county supervisors next Tuesday on the matter. An appropriation of $2500 was made more for improvement of the park, to be made payable to the planning commission, but was never claimed.

BEACH WOMEN IN VISIT TO HOSPITAL

NEWPORT BEACH, April 26.—A delegation of local American Legion auxiliary members headed by Mrs. Evelyn May, president of the organization, spent yesterday in San Fernando at the home for disabled war veterans. The women carried edibles and other things to cheer the disabled soldiers and spent the day in playing cards with the veterans.

The visit to the hospital is one of a number made by the local Legion auxiliary each year. The organization furnished one of the rooms at the hospital when it was first constructed and has taken a great interest in the hospital work. Contributions of canned fruits, jams and other things are sent to the hospital at intervals by the auxiliary members.

Funds for the auxiliary work were raised at a theater party staged at the new Ritz theater in Balboa Tuesday night. The program presented was under the direction of Mrs. Evelyn Rider and included several special features in addition to the regular film.

Officers of the American Legion auxiliary were entertained by Mrs. Eugene Reber at her home at 304 Bay avenue recently. Mrs. Reber was assisted in entertaining by Mrs. Olive Kinley, of Costa Mesa.

Series of Parties Are Held in Honor of Miss Bruner

Since June 25 has been announced as the date of the marriage of Miss Elizabeth Bruner, oldest daughter of Mrs. Mary Page Bruner, to Francis G. Graves, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Barnum Graves of Alameda, a series of parties has been given in honor of the bride-elect.

The first of these pre-nuptial courtesies was extended by Miss Leona Calkins, librarian at the Julia C. Lathrop library, who charmingly entertained a group of twelve guests with a bridge supper at the Rose Arbor Inn. Miss Calkins presented her honor guest with a pretty bonbon dish.

Miss Lota Blythe entertained early this week for Miss Bruner at her home in Orange. Six tables were attractively arranged for bridge. A pink and gold color scheme was maintained throughout the appointments. French note paper was presented to the person holding high score at each table. A handsome tray was given to Miss Bruner by the hostess.

Shower

A group of close friends was invited to a shower for Miss Bruner, held by Mrs. R. Carson Smith Tuesday night. Bridge occupied the guests during the evening. Beautiful and useful gifts were showered upon the honoree. Mrs. Smith served a delicious two-course supper at attractive tables. A pastel color scheme was carried out. Mrs. Smith and Miss Bruner attended the local high school and junior college and graduated from Pomona college together.

Santa Ana has been the home of Miss Bruner since her birth. Since graduating from Pomona college she has been teaching at the Julia C. Lathrop junior high school.

Mr. Graves is employed as a research chemist by the Standard Oil company at Richmond. He is a graduate of the University of California.

Illustrated Lecture

The Rev. Father P. A. Connelly, priest of St. Anne's Roman Catholic church, presented two interesting lectures last night at the church on Borchard avenue. The lectures were entitled "The City of Rome" and "Saint Teresa, the Little Flower." A series of slides were used to illustrate the lectures which were given before an appreciative audience.

Birthday Anniversaries Are Celebrated

Quantities of scotch broom and pink sweet peas were used as a background for a pretty luncheon held yesterday afternoon by Mrs. W. W. Kays of 2119 North Main street, in honor of the birthday anniversaries of Mrs. Henry Gerken and Mrs. Eugene Reis.

Besides the hostess and her two honor guests, Mrs. Lehman, Mrs. J. E. Tillotson and Mrs. T. F. Ham enjoyed the affair.

The yellow and pink of the flowers were reflected in the table appointments which included clever little tin cups in the form of a hat box. The individual birthday cakes and the ice cream of the dessert course were also in pink and yellow.

Dinner and Bridge Are Enjoyed

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Winslow were hosts last night at a dinner and bridge party held at their home on North Main street. A delightfully appointed dinner was served to the hosts and their fourteen guests.

Appreciation

How are you in the appreciating line? I mean are you capable of registering real appreciation and delight when the boy friend sails in some evening with a delightful surprise for you—two seats to the worst show in town which you've already seen?

That's a test of your appreciation my girl. Wonder how you stand up under it.

Oh, it's easy enough to sparkle with joy and gratitude and delight when the sheik of your heart romps in with five pounds of the best candy in town and a sheaf of American beauties.

It's easy enough to be rapturously grateful when he gives you the most stunning wrist watch you've ever seen in your life, for an engagement present.

But how about the bones he pulls? Are you appreciative of them too? Are you big enough and wise enough to see right through the gift you didn't want to the spirit that prompted the gift? Are you? I wonder.

Refined Cruelty

One of the surest ways of hurting a man's feelings deeply is to show disappointment in the gift he's planned for and bought with so much happiness and anticipation.

It's cruel for any girl to let her man see that his offerings is not what she expected—not what she wanted at all.

And unless she be a selfish young thing she'll never let the b. f. know about the bone he's pulled.

Still there are dozens of selfish young gals in the world, who actually have the nerve to look grieved and discouraged over the best their man can afford. Every one of those maidens ought to be dropped like a hot brick under such circumstances.

The girl who isn't a good enough sport to take a slight disappointment in the right spirit doesn't deserve anything else but disappointment in love.

Very often that's all she gets—if the boy friend's feelings are wounded.

Everyone of us has said at some time or other that the gift itself doesn't matter—it's the spirit that counts.

How Many Are Consistent?

But how many of us have really meant it? How many of us have found more cause for joy in the love which prompted the gift—than in the beauty and value of the gift itself?

Well, we've simply got to learn how to appreciate generosity, no matter how unwelcome a form it takes. Otherwise we're going to exhibit to the boy friend a selfish, mercenary side of our nature which we should strive to erase entirely before he can find it out.

The stone man held the Tiniest tight, and said, "Now, everything's all right. You've treated me real well, and I will do the same to you. I'm going to hike until we find some place for fun, if you don't mind. I'm sure you will appreciate most anything that's new."

"Of course, we will," one Tiny said. "Where are you going, go ahead. But we'll get down and walk, if you get tired from our weight. We're rather heavy, we'll admit, but on your arms it's fun to sit. We wonder, with us all, how you can hold them out so straight."

The stone man laughed. "Ha, ha, ho, ho!" and then he said, "Why don't you know that when a man is made of stone, he cannot feel at all? Say, even if you weighed a ton, I still would think it heaps of fun to carry you. All that I ask is that you do not fall."

So, on they went o'er hill and dale, until they reached a winding

Vandalism And American Public

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

In a new movie palace recently, I saw three wads of chewing gum helping out the decoration. One reposed on the side of a bronze-and-marble drinking fountain, one on a wall near a mural painting, and the other on the arm of a chair—not under it—on it.

The theater cost three million dollars. The price of admission is 50 cents. The price probably would be lower if the owners did not have to allow for depreciation through sheer vandalism and pay an enormous amount weekly to charwomen, painters and carpenters, to keep the place clean and in repair.

It is strange but true that the very people who have so little disregard for the property of others, as a rule, will forsake a place that begins to look dingy and soiled, and look for new worlds to destroy.

It is the same with parks. The departments of public works in large cities pay more to their cleaning squads than to their gardeners and botanists.

If the papers were not picked up and the egg-shells, banana skins, and pickle-bottles gathered in and disposed of, the merry wreckers of God's outdoors soon would desert the spot their wanton carelessness had made hideous, and seek for other peaceful glades to demolish.

They never have learned to regard the property of others as sacred. A public park means everybody's park, but no one person or one family has a right to make it ugly for the other thousands who visit it.

We have laws to punish vandalism. But like a lot of other laws that are not enforced, they are a joke. Americans laugh at fines. Is the only answer to this serious problem, imprisonment? After all it might create a good healthy respect for public property.

The story of the Gateway of the Moon, current attraction at the Broadway theater, deals with white men's efforts of building a railroad through the jungle at a ruthless cost to native life and happiness. Gillespie, the chief engineer, played by Anders Randolph, is a brute hated and feared by his white and native workers alike. Toni is his niece, who neither fears nor hates him. But with the coming of Wyatt, played by Walter Pidgeon, she begins to recognize her uncle's evil nature and is willing to help Wyatt.

WEST COAST-WALKER

Evelyn Brent, who plays the role of Gilberto Boismartel, married woman in love with Adolphe Menjou in his latest starring vehicle, "A Night of Mystery," started out in life as a school teacher. She attended the New York Normal School, until she visited some eastern studios with a group of classmates and was given a test.

Then and there she dropped her pedagogical ambitions and turned her face towards the cameras—and fame. She made her biggest hit in "Love 'Em and Leave 'Em," and after a successful personation in "Beau Sabreur" was signed to a Paramount feature contract. Her first role under the new agreement was opposite Emil Jannings in "The Last Command," and later she became George Bancroft's leading woman in "The Show Down."

"A Night of Mystery" is the screen attraction closing at the West Coast-Walker theater tonight.

WEST END THEATER

"The Black Pirate" is the current offering at the West End theater.

The cast was selected with usual Douglas Fairbanks care, every attention being devoted to the types. There are only two women in the piece, Billie Dove and Tempe Pigott. Among the men, whose histrionic ability ranges high, are Anders Randolph at the pirate captain, Donald Crisp as a one-armed pirate, Sam De Grasse as a sinister second mate, Charles Stevens, Charles Belcher, Al MacQuarrie and others.

The WOMAN'S DAY
by ALLENE SUMNER

Two spinster sisters of St. Louis aged 47 and 49, swallowed poison because their mother had died the other day. They said in a note written just before they chose to die that they were lonely, and that life was impossible without their mother.

Abnormal and morbid as this little true story is, it's only so natural a result from all too frequent unbridled maternal instinct that seeks to devour its children and make them utterly dependent upon the female parent that one really wonders that such a disaster doesn't happen even more frequently than it does.

CARRIE NATION'S S. A.
Nothing is quite so funny as the revival of an old book or play which, when first written or produced some twenty or thirty years ago, was denounced as "indecent, shameful, and a destroyer of morals," but which, when reprinted in this frank modern day, is found hopelessly boring and dry and as devoid of a shocking line as Carrie Nation was of S. A.

Such a book is "Mrs. Craddock" by Somerset Maugham. The only terms upon which Maugham could get this published about 30 years ago were by omitting certain scenes and lines. "Too daring," but the recently published new edition is the original manuscript. The author himself said that he had a dreadful time finding the censored paragraphs in the original manuscript and the reader can't find them at all.

IS IT THE BABY?

Bertha talks about having a baby and the birth scene is rather realistic, but neither her pre nor post maternity philosophizings compare for frankness with most and old book picked up today. There are one or two tempestuous love scenes which might have horrified people of an age who never kissed in public, and perhaps Bertha's eventual hatred for her husband shocked an age which took the promise "till death do us part" very seriously, no matter what hell resulted for self and family.

One's objections to the book is a paean of thanksgiving that one lives in this frank, sane-minded day instead of when one refused to look at facts without swaddling them in either sentimentality or unwholeness.

EVENING SALUTATION
I live for those who love me,
Whose hearts are kind and true,
For the heaven that smiles above me,
And awaits my spirit, too;

For the bright hopes left behind me,
And the good that I can do.

THE SENATE AND NICARAGUA

If the vote in the United States Senate yesterday on amendments to the appropriation bill relating to Nicaragua means what it says, the administration can count upon the support of the Senate in the continuation of its policy in Nicaragua. By an overwhelming majority, the Senate voted down all amendments which, if carried, would have prevented the President from keeping marines in Nicaragua after the election without the consent of Congress. The President can continue the policy that has been pursued as far as the Senate is concerned. And if marines and other soldiers can be sent to Nicaragua they can be sent anywhere without the consent of Congress. The vote can almost be interpreted as placing a new construction upon the Constitution for, under the Constitution, Congress alone has power to declare war.

We suppose that the explanation of this apparent inconsistency would be that American troops landed upon foreign soil and engaged in battle with the natives does not constitute war unless Congress has so declared. Such an interpretation would enable the President to carry on de facto warfare in various quarters without Constitutional or legal warfare being recognized. It is a very convenient method for backing up a policy that has been determined upon which might not have the support of Congress or which might bring out some real unfortunate circumstances to make the procedure unpopular.

The Senators who were objecting to marines being sent to Nicaragua in the first instance, strange to say, voted to permit a continuation of keeping them there after the election just as did other Senators. Senator Borah's explanation of his vote does not appear in today's dispatches but one almost reaches the point where he expects that Senator Borah, in the actual vote on measures, will be found lining up against the position which he took in public debate on the same question. It has always been so. Borah has the art of raising more hope in the hearts of rebels and consternation in the hearts of "stand-patters" when the talk fest is on than any other man in the United States and then he has the unique habit of reversing that process when the roll of the Senate is called. It has reached the point where this attitude has become so common that it is losing its efficiency in producing the results of either hope or consternation.

The result of the vote will be a distinct relief to great interests throughout our country as well as disappointing to some.

"KEY-NOTER" DEFEATED

An embarrassing situation has developed as a result of the vote in Ohio's primaries. Senator Simeon D. Fess headed the list of candidates for delegates to the National Republican convention on the Willis ticket. He went down in the landslide of Hoover, being defeated by Theodore E. Burton by 80,000 votes. This eliminates Senator Fess from being temporary chairman of the convention. Senator Fess had been selected as the "key-noter" of the National convention by the National Committee headed by Chairman Butler.

It is possible of course that Senator Fess will still make the opening speech of the convention by invitation. But his defeat in Ohio in such an overwhelming manner, and his elimination from the convention as a delegate would almost destroy his value in the position for which he had been selected. Senator Fess was primarily for President Coolidge. He probably did not expect that Senator Willis had a real chance at the nomination. But he is now handicapped by one of the accidents of political life from doing a really fine piece of work for which he was eminently fitted.

It was feared by some that Chairman Butler and Senator Fess, both of whom were known Coolidge men had the Coolidge nomination in their minds when they selected Senator Fess as the "key-noter" and that Senator Fess would adroitly use his opportunity to attempt to stampee the convention for Coolidge. Even if Senator Fess now is invited to make the keynote speech, all such fear must be dispelled from the minds of the Hoover group for the vote in Massachusetts and Ohio was too clear and certain to permit any such action.

AND THEY WORE

By the time this appears the curious world will know what the Los Angeles councilmen wore today in the dedication of their new city hall. It is all a dark secret as this is written. Was it the shiny beaver hat, cutaway coat and striped pants? Was it the common everyday sack coat of the business man with the fedora or sombrero of the West? Did some silly councilman don the hard boiled iron derby of the effete East. That would be the limit. Don't you just hate it?

We would suggest as a costume something emblematic and comfortable—the soft fringed buckskin clothes of the scout, or the chaps and spurs of the cowboys, or perhaps a combination of the uniforms of the firemen and policemen. But whatever the clothes may be, let there be plenty of photographs, both moving, stills and close-ups. What would history be without an extensive photographic record of the men chosen for a time to occupy offices in the really impressive and beautiful new city hall at Los Angeles?

Now we have a plant physiologist who shows how flowers can be produced without soil. A few days ago we had a jury down in Washington show us how the crime of conspiracy and fraud could be produced without a criminal. But we are going to keep our eyes still out for money that is passed to us that hasn't a government stamp on it.

THE PRAYER BOOK GOES TO PARLIAMENT AGAIN

The revised prayer book of the English church, after a new revision by the church convocations of all the dioceses, again goes to Parliament for approval. If the vote of the convocations of Canterbury and York, the two archdioceses of the Established Church, is any indication, there seems less chance for the revised prayer book passing the Commons now than before. When the vote was taken last year in these two dioceses, it stood 167 for and 22 against revision, in the Canterbury convocation. The last vote stood 126 for and 28 against. In the York convocation, the vote last year was 68 for and 10 against. The last vote stood, 50 for and 19 against.

It will be seen that there were less votes in both convocations for revision this year than last year. To be sure, there were substantial majorities at both times in favor of the revised prayer book, but the decreased majority has some significance. It evidently means that in the opinion of some the revision does not go far enough, while in the opinion of others it goes too far.

In this effort to revise the prayer book we see the evil of a church being supported by the state. In this country the Episcopal prayer book has been revised a number of times, and even now is in process of revision, with the result that it expresses the beliefs of the vast majority in the church. Besides, it is up to date. That is impossible with the prayer book of the Established Church in England because of the fact that Scotch Presbyterians and English Dissenters share in the final decision as to what the clericals and the laity of the Anglican Church shall believe.

JUST AS WE FEEL

It is delightfully to the point, with us, to recall that Dr. Johnson's biographer, Boswell, one time asked if Dr. Johnson did not think the Giant's Causeway worth seeing. He replied, "Why, sir, yes, worth seeing, but not worth going to see."

How often do we feel just that way as we travel the busy highways in nerve-racking or tedious fashion. And we come home with our eyes too dull to see the pleasures right at home, the beautiful flowers, our fresh green lawns, and too late to hear the songs of the birds. But we can't resist, in this beautiful country, going to see—going as far as possible and therefore seeing as much as possible in the time at our disposal.

We recall a cartoon of two men on Mars conversing. They heard the hum of the automobiles on earth and the one asked the other where the people over there were all going and the other answered, "Oh, just going." But there isn't much truth in it. The cartoonist didn't appreciate our going. He must have lived in Chicago. Out here we go to see the ocean shimmering in the sunlight and dashing itself in endless rhythm on the shore, or the various colors of the setting sun on the water, or the deep blue on the rugged hills, or the expanse of the desert and the strangely delicate flowers of its carpet, or the beauty of an old ruin and a beautiful garden. In other places people "just go" but out here we go to enjoy.

But we are selfish enough to wish sometimes that we could take turn about and half of us go one day or half day and the other half the next so we wouldn't have to hurry or retard our speed to keep in the forced procession, or be bothered with quite so many lights on our homeward way, or be made nervous by the one who must cut in.

OUR CHILDREN

By Angelo Patri

DRILL TIME

There is a time for everything. The early years, from birth to along about nine, are the years of drill. Children enjoy repeating the same thing over and over. They enjoy a monotonous variety of occupation. They will sit happily for hours chanting the same tables, the same verses, the same nonsense rhymes. They are enjoying themselves hugely. They like to be bosses at this stage of their lives. They look up to the teacher and wait her command. They like to move in response to rhythm-repeated orders, a stirring march, a fancy drill is joy to their growing muscles and nerves. This is drill time.

During these years we must teach the fundamentals of things. We teach the bare facts and make no apologies for them. Two and two are four because we have all agreed to call it that and there is nothing more to be said about it. A lie is a lie. Thou shalt not steal is a direct command from on high. Honor thy father and thy mother is to be taken literally and treated with grave regard in daily practice. This is teaching time, drill time. Make the most of it for it soon passes and the power of our teaching swiftly descends. With adolescence it ends.

When a two-year-old child indicates that he is not willing to do what he ought to do it is our duty to stand by and see that he does what is right and best for him to do, regardless of his feeling about the matter. If he is allowed to indulge in a temper tantrum today, he will have a worse one the next time. If he refuses to eat his dinner and his acquiring a martyr and bow down before his sacrifice to his own vanity, he will enjoy his martyrdom, and years, for years to come.

If a child finds that he need learn only three words when the teacher assigned five, he will not learn the five. Help him learn them in the way he likes, drill and rhythm and repetition and more rhythm and he will gladly learn the five. But remember this is his drill time and what he learns now he will keep, and the manner of it.

When the years of adolescence come, there is no more drill in him. He is an individualist and no longer merges with the group in drill and rhythm. He has a rhythm of his own and he desires to have it noted and respected. If, in his early years, he has mastered the fundamentals of learning and conduct, his individualism will not carry him far astray. His foundations are set in righteousness. But if his drill time passed without his acquiring habits of industry, thoroughness, application of knowledge to further distant ends, he is in danger. A little child yields to the superior will that is guiding him. The adolescent child rebels against it. Both children are true to their growth. It is right and fitting that one rebel and the other submit. There is a time for everything.

It is our grave duty to see that we so use the time that the right thing happens at the right time. That is the high task of a fine teacher and a consecrated parent.

(Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, enclosing stamped, addressed envelope for reply.)

More Truth Than Poetry

THE OPTIMISTS

Along the edges of the stream
And o'er the hill beyond
Where rows of tiny whitecaps gleam
When catspaws sweep the pond,
And in the rivulets that sing
And murmur all day long
The little frogs are echoing
The robin's earliest song.

Before the sun is in the skies,
When night still lowers gray,
Their little shrilling voices rise
To hail the coming day.
And when the evening afterglow
Is mirrored in the rill
And deepening shadows come and go
They keep on singing still.

The night may fall, but now and then
I waken from my sleep
And hear, from yonder mossy glen
A thin and drowsy "cheep"
And know that somewhere in a bog
Beneath the moon's white beams
Some happy hearted little frog
Is singing in his dreams.

He has no dark foreboding fear
Of grief or stress or storm
Enough for him that Spring is here
And days are bright and warm.
And though I'm sure I shouldn't sing,
How grateful I should be
If only a returning Spring
Could mean so much to me!

Dr. Crane's Friendly Talk

By Dr. Frank Crane

FOREST CONSERVATION

Thrift means intelligent spending as well as intelligent saving. And forest conservation depends quite as much upon the intelligent use of timber products as upon the saving of the forests.

This is a point that has often been overlooked by tree sentimentalists.

Axel H. Oxholm, director of the National Committee on Wood Utilization at Washington, has issued a very timely pamphlet bringing out this point.

National interests will benefit far more by vigorous encouragement of timber growing than by hoarding the timber we now have. The reason for this is simple. Growing wood is after all an economical business, that is, if it can be made to pay it will be done and if it can't be made to pay all our shouting will not accomplish much.

It can only be made to pay when there is a constant and profitable use made of timber products and at the same time careful attention paid to reforestation.

Forest fires should be strictly guarded against, much more strictly than they are, and taxes on growing timber lands should be so regulated as to make the growing of timber lucrative.

The sentimental interest in trees, the love of trees as a part of the landscape and their necessity for the prevention of floods should go hand in hand with the commercial use of tree products with their being cared for in such a way as not only to make timber profitable, but to provide for the new crop.

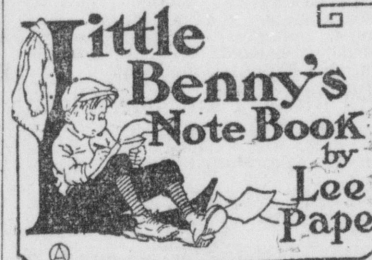

It is to be hoped that efforts will be successful to place the timber business of the United States upon a solid economic and political foundation, so that our forests may be preserved and may increase.

Mr. Oxholm says: "The constructive solution of the whole problem lies in timber use and in timber culture, each backing and sustaining the other."

Like any crop, timber becomes a loss if not utilized when mature, and waste should be avoided. Orderly and systematic work of timber lands should be encouraged.

TOMORROW—HAND SHAKING.

(Copyright, 1928, McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Pop was smoking and thinking and ma and my sister Gladdis came in the room carrying hat boxes with about 8 ladies hats in them, ma saying, Willyum we need your help to decide a very important problem, Gladdis must have a new hat to have her picture taken in so Mr. Parkins can send it to his folks, but the question is, which hat?

That's easy, just take the most becoming one, pop sed, and Gladdis sed, That's swell advice but there's nothing easy about it, we bin trying to decide that very question for an hour, now look at this blue one, mother and I both decided it gives me a very nice profile, wat do you think?

And she put it on and turned sideways, pop saying, I think so.

But on the other hand the red one is better fullface, put it on for your father, Gladdis, ma sed.

Wich Gladdis did, and pop sed, That's rite, it does, I mean it is.

But after all the little square hat has the most stillish lines, don't you agree Willyum? ma sed, And Gladdis put that one on and pop sed, Yes, I agree.

Yet somehow this little turban feels so comfortable, wat do you think, father? Gladdis sed. And she put another one on, pop saying, Well if you want me to decide if it's comfortable or not you better let me try it on.

Now Willyum this is serious, Mr. Parkins fokes have never even seen a picture of Gladdis, wat do you think so far of the hats she's tried on, have you eny definite opinion? ma sed.

Well yes, pop sed. I think the first one had the best profile and the 2nd had the best fullface and the 3rd had the most stillish lines and the 4th was the most comfortable, he sed.

O my stars wat a waist of time, Gladdis sed, and ma sed, I mite of known it, come on back to my room and try on the others once more.

Shall I come along? pop sed, and ma sed, No thanks.

Wich he properly dident want to enyways.

Plans and specifications were completed by F. W. Opp for a handsome nine-room modern residence on Santa Clara avenue at the end of Greenleaf street.

Mrs. E. E. Keech and her daughter, Marguerite, spent the day in Los Angeles.

Although Company L, Santa Ana's national guard unit, is prepared to leave for the border at a moment's notice, Captain J. L. McBride does not believe that there is more reason to think that the company will be called out this week than there has been at any time since the beginning of the Mexican trouble.

Miss Valencia Krauch, 19 years of age, who is an employee of the Santa Ana steam laundry, passed away during an attack of pneumonia.

The next series of "Adventures of Kathlyn," starring Kathlyn Williams, will begin at Clune's theater here April 30.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By Glenn Frank

CAPITALIZING DULLNESS

Is it possible that the fate of our democracy hangs upon our success in capitalizing dullness?

This is the interesting query that is raised by Ross L. Finney, in a fine book with the forbidding title of "A Sociological Philosophy of Education."

Mr. Finney has elaborated a theory of progress in a democracy that might be called government by echo.

Long ago Plato elaborated a theory of progress in a democracy that rested upon the location of the leadership of democracy in its wisest minds. And through all the centuries since Plato's time the critics and lovers of democracy have been crying aloud for great leaders.

Mr. Finney thinks we would get farther if we did not spend all our time planning for the leadership of the bright and did some careful planning to insure the followership of the dull.

He thinks we have an adequate supply of wise men to lead us, but that the rub comes in getting the public to follow them.

He thinks that, if we spend all our time crying for the leadership of the wise, and lay no plans for securing the followership of the dull, we shall always end in the leadership of the strong.

And Mr. Finney thinks there is a feasible and legitimate way to insure the following of the wise by the dull.

There are two kinds of social behavior in the world—rote behavior and reasoned behavior.

All of us do many things we do not understand, and do them just as well as if we understood them. Many of us run an automobile, unlock a safe, and set an alarm clock in total ignorance of the mechanisms involved. And the automobile runs, the safe opens, and the alarm clock goes off just as effectively as if we were expert mechanics.

The same principle holds in the way men take part in public affairs, Mr. Finney thinks. The few reason out what they do; the many play their part or cast their vote in a kind of automatic response to the catch-words, epigrams, and slogans that are current at the moment. If the popular beliefs of the moment are sound, the dull folk who act upon them without reasoning about their action act just as wisely as the wise folk who know why they act upon them. Therefore, Mr. Finney suggests, the thing to do is to devise an educational system that will, on the one hand, teach the bright minority to think for themselves, and, on the other hand, drill into the minds of the dull majority sound catch-words and sane slogans that will dominate their actions.

With intelligence in leadership and imitation in followership, he thinks the age-old problem of democratic progress may be in sight of a solution. Teach the what to all, and the why to the bright is his program.

This over-simplifies the problem a bit. The fact is that, in our reactions to public affairs, the wise as well as the dull act upon the current slogans and catch-words of most of the time. And, regardless of what we try to do in our schools, only the bright will learn to think for themselves anyway.

Two things, however, we may take to heart from Mr. Finney's theory—it is important to coin the best knowledge of our time into simple and sloganized phrases that will catch the popular mind, and the wise leader must develop a technique as clever as the technique of the demagogue.

D.A.R. Should Study Paine and Jefferson

Sacramento Bee

The national convention of the D. A. R. has upheld the action of the national officers in preparing and sending out to the local chapters a list of speakers regarding as unfit to address the chapters because of their social or political views.

This it had the unquestionable right to do.

But when, as it has been shown in a number of cases, it has used its influence in various communities to prevent these same speakers from talking even to those who wanted to hear them, then it is seeking to set up a censorship which is as indefensible as it is un-American.

Moreover, this un-American spirit was displayed in this same convention toward one of the delegates who had the temerity to give some slight aid and comfort to the minority.

For supporting a resolution to bring the issue upon the convention floor, she was deprived of her privileges and practically debarred from any further activity in the organization.

And this from a group which prides itself upon its revolutionary ancestry; upon upholding the ideas of 1776.

A good thing for the D. A. R. apparently would be an elementary course in the writings of Thomas Paine, Thomas Jefferson and others of the revolutionary fathers.

If freedom of speech and expression be not a fundamental tradition and teaching of the Revolution, then neither are the beatitudes a part of the Sermon on the Mount.

Morrow For Nicaragua

Riverside Enterprise

A news bulletin of the National Council for Prevention of War, makes the suggestion that the United States send Ambassador Morrow to Nicaragua, because of the outstanding success he has achieved in Mexico and because of the apparent failure to bring about peace in Nicaragua by use of the marines. It is pointed out that there is not the faintest possibility of securing a successful election under the present plan.

It is suggested that a modern statesman of the very first rank, such as Morrow has proven to be, is the only logical one to select for the task of regaining the confidence and good will of the Nicaraguans. It is further urged that because one diplomatic error has been committed, there is no reason why it should be continued to be pursued to the bitter end and a warfare prosecuted in Nicaragua to the point that it will ultimately endanger the good will and friendship of all of the rest of Latin America, to say nothing of other peace loving countries of the world.

The suggestion doesn't seem to be such a bad one. Every peace loving citizen of the United States deprecates the necessity of carrying on a war in another country, if there is the faintest possibility of achieving peace and a stable government by diplomacy. If there is any single diplomat equal to the task, it is Morrow.

Dilemma

San Diego Union

The nations represented at the present conference of the opium commission of the League of Nations, are and always have been confronted by an almost insuperable obstacle to action. Some of the nations derive revenue from the opium traffic, and some do not. The nations which derive no revenue are hampered in proposing legislation to curb the evil traffic, because they fear to seem to be condemning the nations which do. And the nations which do derive a revenue from opium have steadfastly refused to take the initiative.

Some members are thus too wicked to be useful, and the other members are merely too good.
